The Answer Is "Yes"

The Civilized Jungle

IS BUSINESS IMPROVING after the "gamblers' scare" that disturbed Wall Street?

The answer is, YES. All the way from California to New York.

In the Hart, Schaffner & Marx main Chicago office, M. W. Cresap talks to customers himself. Last Saturday he was discussing business conditions with Arthur Phillips, vice-president of the M. M. Cohn Company of Little Rock, Ark., and Mr. Phillips was ordering plenty of goods.

Mr. Cresap finds business, temporarily disturbed in December, recovering all over the country—from his home town, Rochester, Minn., all the way from Seattle on one side of the continent down to Miami on the other.

His business reaches every business community in the United States.

In New York, J. L. Laun of S. W. Straus & Co., said yesterday: "Demands for good real estate bonds are more active than they have been in a long time. We are in the market for high-grade loans, and plenty of them."

Bishop Manning agrees with the Pope's suggestion that Christians all over the world should pray for kinder treatment of Christian churches, by Russia.

The Episcopal Church in New York will pray earnestly in accordance with the Pope's suggestion.

Russia's government shows no signs of being influenced by prayer, thus far.

Yesterday in Chita, Siberia, 10,000 Bolshevik workmen paraded with anti-religious banners. Soviet authorities closed every church, synagogue and shrine in Chita, all of them will be converted into schools and "cultural" institutions. Bells will be melted down, for rust proof water pipes. Chita held a torchlight procession to celebrate "the death of religion."

Religion will outlast their torchlight procession and the Russian government by thousands of years.

"If there had not been a God it would have been necessary to invent one," is one of the wisest things that wise Voltaire ever said.

Meanwhile, business men in Europe, and some well informed in the United States, are not worrying about Russia's treatment of religion, being too much worried about other things.

They discovered to their horror that Russia is beginning to undersell other countries in the world's markets. "Success in socialization drives permit Soviet to undersell capitalists," is a news heading that doesn't please the capitalists.

England, France, Germany are frightened by competition of a nation in which everything goes to the working people, or the government, no provision made for MILLION or BILLION private fortunes or for dividends.

Russia's government is something like the Henry Ford family. After the Ford car earns enough to provide for Henry Ford, Mrs. Ford, Edsel Ford, the grandchildren and the payroll, nothing more is necessary.

No stockholders calling for dividends.

In the long run Russia will not set up any industrial workingman's Utopia. Theories are good, but human selfishness is powerful.

Some man of power will come along, as he did in the person of Napoleon after the French revolution, and re-establish the reign of selfishness and individual effort.

That's the only permanent system that men have found, to date. They may change from selfish competition to altruistic emulation later, but that's a long way off.

Finding a wild animal torn to pieces by another in the forest or jungle, you don't ask questions. Being wild animals, they naturally kill each other.

When police find one wild human being killed by others in the jungle that we call "a civilized city," they are not surprised.

New York, competing with Chicago in gang killings, found James Tinerello in a Brooklyn snowdrift yesterday, several bullets in his head, one in his stomach. Ex-convict and gangster, the police said he had been "taken for a ride." After they killed him his brother gangsters piled snow on his body. They rarely take so much trouble.

While New York picks up gangsters that have had their ride, Chicago continues accumulating its [illegible] in prison. [illegible] jailed within a [illegible] many

FULL PROBE OF GARRETT IS VOTED

Senate Suspends Rules for Speed; Garrett Testifies Before Grand Jury

Following completion today of the Federal Grand Jury investigation of "Bawdy Boston" charges, the Senate passed the resolve calling for an investigation of the activities of Oliver B. Garrett, former police liquor raider, by Attorney General Joseph E. Warner.

While a statement was awaited from the grand jurors, before whom Garrett was today's most important witness, the investigation resolve was put through all its stages by the Senate under suspension of the rules. There was no rollcall.

The resolve was passed after a spirited debate, the opposition being headed by Senator Donald Nicholson of Ware, who said the legislature had never taken such a course in its history.

Shortly before the Senate session began Asst. U. S. Atty. Hubert C. Thompson had announced that a statement might be expected from the grand jurors, who wound up their probe of charges made by Walter W. Liggett in a magazine article, "Bawdy Boston."

COFFEY ALSO HEARD.

Garrett, his friend, Ralph Manuel, of Weymouth, and Rep. James S Coffey of East Boston were the only witnesses heard today. They were before the grand jury 55, 25 and 15 minutes, respectively.

After the testimony the grand jurors remained in session for 20 minutes, with both U. S. Atty. Frederick H. Tarr and his first assistant, Thompson, present. They reconvened in the afternoon for other business.

Liggett, whose "Bawdy Boston" article started the investigation, appeared before the grand jury several weeks ago, and was followed by Robert G. Allen former Washington policeman, who said he had investigated local conditions. Conrad Crooker, general counsel and one of the leaders of the Liberal Civic League, also testified.

WAITS MORE THAN HOUR.

Garrett, who refused to make any previous statement, entered the

TARDIEU FALL TIES HANDS OF PARLEY

Paris Crisis May Block Further Plans; Italy Tells the U. S. She Wants Cut

Outstanding naval parley developments today included:

1—Formal announcement made by France that its hands are tied pending settlement of the crisis occasioned by the fall of Tardieu. U. S.-France conference cancelled.

2—Indication that the parley will make but scant effort to accomplish anything until the "big 4" again becomes the "big 5."

3—While London hung expectantly on the news from Paris, it was confidently expected that Tardieu would be returned to power, being even stronger in his demands for a huge navy, thus confronting the parley with yet another crisis.

4—Italy prepared to issue a naval statement following a conference between Grandi, Stimson and MacDonald.

London, Feb. 18 (AP)—Ambassador Fleuriau tonight advised the other delegations that France was suspending all negotiations at the London naval conference, even on technical matters, in view of the Cabinet crisis in Paris.

CIVIL SERVICE CONFIRMS 3 OF CURLEY'S NOMINEES

Rourke for the Public Works Post and Martin and Haffenreffer Win Out

Mrs. Helen Countie Galvin of Dorchester, whom Mayor Curley planned to have in his city family as the first woman head of a department, was rejected today as city registrar by the civil service commission.

The commission, however, confirmed the appointments of Joseph A. Rourke as public works commissioner and John J. Martin and Theodore Haffenreffer as park commissioners.

It took no action on the appointments for fire commissioner, institutions commissioner and traffic commissioner.

Mrs. Galvin, mother of four children and a well known professional singer, was named for the [illegible] a year post of registrar by Mayor Curley on January 18.

Today was the final day of the period in which her name would have to be confirmed or the appointment automatically rejected.

ONE SPEECH FOR CURLEY

The commission, in announcing its confirmation of Rourke, Martin and Haffenreffer, said nothing about Mrs. Galvin, but word quickly seeped through the State House that commission had automatically rejected her.

During the Curley campaign for mayor, Mrs. Galvin was treasurer of the Women's Better Government League, an organization formed as an offset to the Good Government Association of the Republicans.

She made but one campaign speech during the battle, and it still remains the one speech of her career thus far.

NOTED SINGER.

She is a graduate of Roxbury High School and of the New England Conservatory of Music. For a time she sang with the Boston Civic Opera Co. and now sings weekly at the Church of St. Mary of the Angel in Egleston sq., Roxbury.

The office she was destined by Mayor Curley to take over was relinquished by the late Edward W. McGlenen, who retired in January and died eleven days later.

HOOVER IS TOLD G.O.P. HELPLESS

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—Senate Republican leaders informed President Hoover today that the tariff bill probably could not be passed before March 10.

Called to the White House by the President, the Republican chieftains were urged to speed action on this long-pending question. But they replied they were "at the mercy of the coalition."

U. S. MEN FIGHT CHINA PIRATES

Shanghai, Feb. 18 (AP)—American naval guards unlimbered their machine guns and silenced a group of bandits when the latter fired on two steamers belonging to the Standard Oil Co. of New York.

The encounter took place on the Yangtze river, about 150 miles above Ichang.

News of the encounter, which reached here today, said the number of casualties was not known.

The bandits opened fire on the steamers and the naval guards, who had been placed aboard the ships to protect them, then went into action.

The recent wave of banditry in Hunan, Kiangsi, Hupeh, Szechwan, Anhwei and Kiangsu provinces has been described as serious.

Attempted pillaging of foreign ships on the upper Yangtze caused American authorities to place armed guards aboard the Standard Oil Co. ships operating on the river.

Seizure by a pirate gang of 12 vessels chartered by the Standard Oil Co. was reported at Canton last Friday.

The vessels, Chinese junks, were carrying $50,000 worth of oil, and the pirates were said to be holding them for ransom. The American consul sent a protest to the Canton military.

Fitzgerald Hits G.O.P. State Rule of City

Arguing for preferential election primaries and the right of the mayor to name the Boston police commissioner, former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald today attacked the Nichols administration and Republican control of Boston from Beacon Hill.

He appeared before the legislative committee on cities with Rep. James J. Twohig and other Boston Democrats.

"I cannot understand why the Republican party, through its leadership in the Legislature, and in the Governor's office, denies to Boston what it gives of home rule to every other city in the state," he said.

"It is not only an insult to the Democratic voters of Boston but a stigma on the city itself.

"We have just had four years of non-partisan government in Boston under Republican auspices. I don't know of any citizen who is proud of that administration."

He charged that the state division of accounts in cities and towns had revealed Republican office holders guilty of "mismanagement, corruption and crookedness." And the "rottenest episode in recent history," he said, was during the Harding administration at Washington.

"So we are not so bad in Boston," he added.

"If Boston had control over its police force, he said, "the Garrett case would have not become an issue on Beacon Hill because the city itself would have taken care of it."

The former mayor urged party nominations in Boston but willingness to accept a preferential primary as a first step to that end.

FIVE PERISH IN HOTEL BLAZE

Maniwaki, Que., Feb. 18 (AP)—Five persons were burned to death and an unknown number injured today as fire destroyed the Gabriteau Hotel and two adjacent buildings.

Efforts definitely to fix the number of casualties were rendered difficult by the fact that the injured were carried to scattered houses in the town as they were rescued from the burning hotel.

Maniwaki is a small lumber town, 85 miles northeast of Ottawa, at the end of the Gatineau line of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Three Women Perish in Three Fires

Three women perished today in three fires, one in Springfield, one in Indian Orchard and the third at Salem. The victims were Mrs. James H. Tehan of Springfield, Mrs. Mary Allen Devine Callahan of Indian Orchard and Miss Nellie McGrath, recluse, of Salem.

Newport, R. I., Feb. 18—Three business buildings were destroyed, six dwellings were damaged, four firemen were injured and the entire business district was threatened today by a $125,000 fire that drove 200 persons into the ice-coated streets.

At the height of the fire 16 prisoners in Newport Jail were removed under guard to police headquarters.

Aid in battling the flames in the near-zero temperature was called from Fall River, Middletown, Fort Adams, the Naval Training Station and from the civilian fire-fighting brigade on the estate of William H. Vanderbilt.

Fearing that the Aquidneck National Bank in Washington sq. might fall prey to the flames only a few doors away, officials and guards removed the currency, bonds and securities to a branch bank.

Injured in the fire were Capt. Charles Freeborne of the Newport fire department, knocked unconscious when he fell from an icy ladder; Hoseman Joseph Silvia of Fall River, [illegible] Hoseman Mi[illegible]

Hold Green Hat Man as Senate's Bootleg

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—George L. Cassidy, known as "the man in the green hat," who has attracted attention on two occasions by being accused of selling whiskey in the Senate and House office buildings, was arrested again today in the Senate office building and a similar charge lodged against him. He was released on bonds.

Goodwin Opposed to Salary Increase

Chairman Frank A. Goodwin of the Boston Finance Commission today opposed any increase in his salary. He told the committee that the position was a part time job and that he was satisfied with the present stipend. Rep. Martin Hays of Brighton, who filed the bill, then asked the committee to give the measure "leave to withdraw."

Mildred Harris Gets Divorce in 3 Minutes

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 18 (INS)—Mildred Harris, former wife of Charles Chaplin, obtained a divorce from Everett Terrance MacGovern in three minutes when she appeared before Superior Judge Harry R. Archbald today.

Two minutes later Superior Judge Franklin C. Collier signed an order freeing Maria Corda, Hungarian actress, from her director husband, Alexander Corda.

Hint Hoover-Coolidge Split Over Politics

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—Calling attention to the trip through the South and West by Calvin Coolidge, Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, asked in the Senate today if the White House conference of party leaders today was, perhaps, a move by President Hoover to "get his fences repaired."

"Of course, many think the President went to Florida," Harrison said, "because he had read in the papers that ex-President Coolidge had awakened from his slumbers and was sojourning in the South. We are not advised of any meeting down there between the ex-President and the President although they were on Florida soil at the same time.

"We are not advised whether President Hoover was provoked or aggravated when he read of ex-President Coolidge's generous receptions everywhere he went, the frequent requests to pose 'for sound news reels' and the fine feeling evidenced by the people everywhere as he went throughout the South from one end to the other, on to the Far West, even to the Golden Gate of California, that he might capture that section at the same time.

"And so, with all these things happening so quickly, it is little wonder that the President, on his return to Washington, should promptly call into conference Republican leaders that he might take an accounting of what has been going on and get his fences repaired."

DISASTROUS FIRE DRIVES 200 INTO BITTER COLD AT NEWPORT

4 FIREMEN HURT IN ICY BATTLE

Apparatus From Fall River Aids Fight; Three Buildings Burn, Six Damaged

identified fireman from Fall River who suffered cuts.

The cause of the fire, which started in a lodge room of the Odd Fellows' Building, was under investigation today.

Patrolman Jeremiah Quinn sighted the flames and turned in an alarm, but as soon as the firemen arrived other alarms began to go in.

Firemen, summoned by a general alarm, were unable to check the progress of the flames. Men and apparatus were then summoned from Fort Adams, the naval training station.

The conflagration had assumed such alarming proportions in a short time that Fire Chief Lawton requested aid from Fall River.

The distance between Fall River and Newport is only 10 miles, and the city's largest pumping engine made the trip over the snow-covered roads in 16 minutes, reaching here in time to battle the flames which at that time were spreading to the Builders and Merchants building.

The fire broke out shortly after 1 a. m. and was discovered by Patrolman Jeremiah Quinn, who saw its glare through the rear windows of the Odd Fellows' building. Apparently the blaze had been in progress for some time, as it started on the top floor and worked down through the lower floors of the four-story wooden building.

From Odd Fellows' building it spread to Masons' building, of similar size, and both of these were quickly burned to the ground. The three upper floors of both buildings were used as lodge and meeting halls, with stores on the ground floor.

A brisk wind blew the embers across the roofs of a dozen houses in the rear, and families gathered a few belongings and fled. Within a few minutes the roofs of four houses had caught fire, and extra details of men were sent from the main fire to guard against spread in that direction.

Besides these families who were forced to the street, 40 families living in three apartment houses within a short distance left their homes because of the menacing flames.

The Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. with about 50 occupants, was emptied as soon as the blaze became threatening in an easterly direction.

In all, almost 200 persons were driven from their homes. All of them had time to dress and gather their more valuable personal belongings, which they packed in bags or wrapped in blankets and carried over their shoulders.

Hundreds of persons walked through the streets of the town or gathered in groups to watch the progress of the flames. It appeared after more than two hours of fury that the progress of the flames had been checked in the direction of tenement buildings, but none of the occupants ventured to return to their homes.

All available policemen were called out when it was decided to transfer the funds and securities from the Aquidneck Bank building, when that structure seemed certain of destruction.

Two Women Are Dead in Springfield Fires

Springfield, Feb. 18—Mrs. James H. Tehan is dead and her husband, a cripple, is in a serious condition as the result of being overcome in a fire which swept their home early today.

Another woman tenant was carried down a ladder and a second was burned on her arms. Several firemen also were overcome by smoke.

Mrs. Tehan, unconscious when taken down a ladder, was dead when she reached a hospital. Her crippled husband was carried to safety by firemen.

Mrs. Donald Bernard, who shared the duplex house with the Tehans, was burned on both arms when flames leaped from the cellar as she sought to learn the source of dense smoke which partly overcame her and her three sons. Mrs. Margaret Bonoghoe, a guest of the Tehans, was rescued.

The fire, believed to have been caused by an over-heated furnace, destroyed the house. Firemen battled the flames for more than an hour in zero weather.

For the second time within a year tragedy struck the Callahan family at Indian Orchard.

Mrs. Mary Allen Devine Callahan died at Mercy Hospital from burns received in her home a few hours earlier. Her husband, Patrick T. Callahan, died in the same hospital last June from injuries suffered in an auto accident.

Mrs. Callahan's clothing caught fire when she attempted to extinguish a roll of newspapers her father had used to light his pipe. Before aid could be given, her clothes were burned from her body.

Besides her father, James F. Devine, she is survived by three sons and one daughter, all of this city. John J. Callahan of Springfield is a brother-in-law.

Salem Woman Burned to Death in Cottage

Penniless and destitute, Miss Nellie McGrath, 65, recluse, started a paper fire in the range in her cottage in Friend st., Salem, today, and was burned to death in a fire that followed.

Firemen who encountered locked and barricaded doors on arrival found her body in the ruins of the two story structure after the second floor had collapsed.

It is believed that Miss McGrath returned to bed after starting the fire and that the highly inflammable materials she used for fuel set fire to the cottage.

Leominster Block Swept by $75,000 Blaze

Leominster, Feb. 18—Loss of more than $75,000 was caused today by fire that destroyed the Nickerson block in Main st., one of the largest buildings in the city, resulting in a general alarm and call for assistance from Fitchburg. Nothing but the walls of the three-story building were left when the flames were subdued. Furnishings of 10 tenants were consumed by the flames.

Operators at the Leominster telephone exchange, in a building adjoining the Nickerson block, discovered the fire. Burning of phone connections sent the warning flashes to their switchboards and they notified the police. Alertness of the girls, the Misses Clyda L. Marden and Dora E. West, was credited with averting a more serious blaze.

The building is owned by E. C. Nickerson of Leominster. It is a brick frame structure.

Fire Sweeps Home of Brockton Man

Brockton, Feb. 18—Flames of mysterious origin swept through the home of Edward Huntress at 91 Thatcher st., early today, completely destroying the structure with a loss of $12,000.

The building, a two and one-half story wooden affair, was vacant when the flames broke out. Huntress, who lives alone, having gone to Rockland on a visit.

Cornelius Ryan, reporter for the Brockton Times, dared the flames to enter the building when a report was circulated that a woman was trapped within. In smashing a window to gain entrance, Ryan suffered a severe gash on his wrist, but continued his search through the smoke-filled rooms, until he made sure no one was there.

Two Firemen Are Burned in Taunton

Taunton, Feb. 18 (AP)—Two firemen, Raymond Paling and Newell Ripley, were burned about the face and injured by inhaling gas and smoke while fighting a fire today in the funeral home of Milton H. Farley. The fire damage was estimated at $15,000.

Paling and Ripley were hurled from the roof to a piazza 10 feet below by the force of a hot air explosion. The fire started in partitions about the fireplace.

Policemen Rescue Two at $15,000 Lawrence Fire

Lawrence, Feb. 18—Patrolmen Henry Murray and John Dineen assisted Mrs. Julia M. Denver and her daughter, Marguerite, to safety today when fire swept their home in East Haverhill st., causing damage of $15,000.

Smoke and the crackling of flames awakened the daughter. The police broke down a door when she called an alarm from an open window, believing she was trapped.

Hoover Told Tariff Speed Is Impossible

Republican leader, told Mr. Hoover that the tariff bill was in the hands of the Republican Independent-Democratic coalition which is now engaged in paring down some existing tariff rates.

Watson said there were innumerable additional amendments yet to be acted upon.

"We have not got the votes in the Senate," the Republican leader said after the meeting. "We are at the mercy of the coalition and I don't think we can get the tariff bill passed before March 10."

Chairman Snell of the House rules committee, which guides legislation in that chamber, said Mr. Hoover had expressed a desire that the Senate make speed with the tariff bill, and that the measure be passed in some form or another and gotten out of the way.

Besides Snell, those attending the breakfast included Speaker Longworth, Representative Tilson of Connecticut, House Republican leader; Chairman Hawley of the House ways and means committee, Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader; Chairman Smoot of the Senate finance committee, and Chairman McNary of the Senate agriculture committee.

Walter Newton, Mr. Hoover's administrative assistant, also was present. Tilson said after the gathering that there was but little for him to add to his announcement of yesterday.

At that time, apparently frankly out of patience with the Senate, he warned that even after the Senate passed the tariff bill it would require several weeks to reach any sort of agreement between the widely varying views of the Senate and House.

Snell said Senate leaders had promised Mr. Hoover to continue to do the best they could, but had emphasized that they were confronted with difficulties in not having been able to muster a majority of votes on many of the tariff amendments.

The rules committee chairman said the House was practically up with its legislative program and that he and other leaders were most anxious that the Senate get the tariff out of the way so it could turn to other work.

"We went over this general situation with the President," he said. "We promised him to do all we could to hurry the program. The primary thing to do is get a tariff bill."

The chief executive, it was understood, informed the Congressional leaders that the failure of the Senate to dispose of tariff legislation was disturbing to the country's business leaders.

The delay in the passage of the tariff bill, the Congressional leaders were told, was holding up other important legislation, including most of the proposals made by President Hoover in his annual message and the recommendations of the Wickersham law enforcement commission to reorganize prohibition enforcement.

700 Miles by Air to Try Cancer Cure

Too ill to make the long journey by train, Mrs. Irving Edwins, wife of a wealthy apple grower of Wenatchee, Wash., was taken to San Francisco in a plane chartered by her husband. She is shown being transferred at Crissy Field, 'Frisco to an ambulence. Later she was taken to the cancer clinic of Drs. Walter B. Coffey and John W. Humber. (Associated Press photo.)

CANCER SERUM PROCLAIMED "GODSEND"

Drs. Coffey and Humber Honored by 800 Colleagues in California

By GOBIND BEHARI LAL
Universal Service

Los Angeles, Feb. 18—"A godsend for humanity!"—"The most important research in cancer!"—

Thus was the cancer research of Drs. Walter B. Coffey and John D. Humber acclaimed by Drs. Granville MacGowan, the chairman, and George H. Kres, the toastmaster, at the annual banquet of the staff of the California Hospital.

Eight hundred leading doctors of Southern California were present.

Drs. Coffey and Humber, and Mrs. Coffey and Mrs. Humber, were the guests of honor and the speakers for the dinner.

"We are more confident than we were ever before in the successful outcome of our experimental work. The new evidence of the last few weeks has added materially to the soundness of our hypothesis," was the keynote of their addresses.

A new and important feature of the program was an address and a microscopic demonstration in support of the Coffey-Humber theory presented by Dr. A. M. Moody, head of the laboratories of the St. Francis Hospital in San Francisco.

Dr. Moody has been checking up the post-mortem evidence of the effect of the Coffey-Humber extract upon the cancer tissue.

Moody had brought into the banquet hall six strong miscoscopes, through which his eloquent slides of dead cancer cells bore testimony of the killing power of the extract.

Dr. Coffey, in his address, hit several high spots about the latest view of his research on cancer.

"Hundreds of patients have been receiving our treatment recently," he said. "It is too early yet to make any definite affirmations that would satisfy the professional colleagues.

"But when we see case after case in which the extract reduces or abolishes suffering and softens the hard lumps of malignant tumors—it is impossible to evade the tentative conclusion that we have the hormone that plays the crucial part in the stability of the system."

QUOTES BONNER AS U. S. POWER BOARD 'BOSS'

Commission Solicitor Russell Tells of $840,000 Lobby Fees Listed as Assets

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—Criticising methods of utilities companies and of F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the Federal Power Commission, Charles A. Russell, commission solicitor, testified today before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee that he had been directed by Bonner to tell William V. King, commission accountant, to "lay off the power companies."

Russell said that utilities companies included "lobby fees" as actual construction cost in accounts presented to the commission.

$84,000 IN "LOBBY"

He added that such an item of $140,000 on the books of the Byllesby Company in Minnesota and Wisconsin was included in its estimate of investments and that another application for a license in Pennsylvania included $700,000 in investment statements when that figure represented "lobby costs and I don't know what else."

Shortly after he went to work for the commission, Russell said that Bonner complained the solicitor had been "listening to" King and that in a conference with Bonner, Maj. Glen Edgerton, chief engineer of the commission, and M. O. Leighton, "employed by the Electric Bond & Share Company," Bonner directed him, Russell, to tell King to "lay off" the power companies.

"SECRECY" ATTACKED.

Leighton's complaint, Russell said, was that King insisted upon being "too detailed" in accounts, such as reports from the companies on expenditures and assets.

Early in today's session Chairman Couzens said the commission kept "confidential" memoranda on applications. Russell later testified that Bonner determined what should be kept secret.

Senators Wheeler (Dem.) of Montana, Dill (Dem.) of Washington and Wagner (Dem.) of New York, immediately attacked the practice.

"What I can't understand," Wagner said, "is what there could be in any application that could be of such character the public should not know about it."

Tardieu's Fall Blocks Naval Parley Action

naval conference, notified Premier Ramsay MacDonald today that, pending solution of the French political crisis, the French delegation would have to mark time here.

M. Leygues then departed for Paris.

Naturally, M. Tardieu, Briand and Pietri will remain in Paris until a new Cabinet is formed.

Very little, probably, will be accomplished by the conference until the French crisis is settled and a new Cabinet is installed.

M. Tardieu, it was believed, probably will succeed himself as premier, and hang more tenaciously than ever to his naval program of 725,000 tons by 1937. The figure involves 240,000 tons construction.

Meanwhile the "big 5" has become a "big 4." Technically there is no French delegation, all having lost their status with the resignation of the government.

This development came at a time when the entire conference activities hinged upon and were built around the French stand.

Held up in negotiations with the French by the overthrow of Tardieu, Prime Minister MacDonald, Secretary Stimson and Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy had a conference regarding the Italian position.

It was understood the Italian foreign minister fully explained the contents of an Italian memorandum which will be issued shortly by Italy's delegation.

In that note Italy, it was indicated, will reaffirm her original viewpoint—a desire to see the conference limit naval armaments to the lowest possible degree, but with Italy maintaining the right to possess naval forces equal in tonnage with any other continental power.

The note, it was understood, will set forth that as Italy desires to eliminate all armament competition, she has refrained, since the Washington conference, from entering into any long term naval program in the belief that the world has finally entered into a period of real limitation.

It was stated the Italian delegation will submit figures to show that in surface ships outside of those limited by the Washington conference, Italy possesses either on water or under construction, roughly, the same number as France.

FRANCE'S HUGE NAVY

Unofficially, these figures were said to be: Light auxiliary surface ship on water or at present under construction, France 231,000 tons, Italy 227,000 tons; submarines in service, France 32,000 tons, Italy 27,000 tons.

According to forecasts of the memorandum, however, it will state that while France is now building 50,000 tons of submarines Italy has laid down only 9000 tons.

Comparing French and British figures, the memorandum will say that Great Britain has only 45,000 tons in submarines in service.

The American delegation met today under the leadership of Secretary Stimson and reviewed conversations with the Japanese regarding naval ratios.

One of the first effects of the French crisis was the cancellation of a scheduled Franco-American conference.

Tardieu's Hope to Head New Cabinet Hangs on the Parley

Paris, Feb. 18 (AP)—President Doumergue's search for a new premier began today with customary consultations with political chiefs and party leaders. Former President Poincare was among the first summoned to the Elysee Palace, the president wishing his views on the situation created by defeat of Premier Tardieu and his government in the Chamber of Deputies.

There was some mention of Aristide Briand, foreign minister in the last cabinet, as a possible selection.

The naval conference and the defeat of the Tardieu government had echoes at a meeting of one of the chamber groups of the Left which unanimously voted to throw its support to a government which will defend at London a naval program indispensable to the security and independence of France.

Fr. Gasson, Former B. C. Head, Dying in Canada

The Rev. Thomas I. Gasson, president of Boston College from 1907 to 1914, today is dying at a hospital in Montreal, according to word received by Boston College authorities.

Fr. Gasson

The news was made public by the Rev. Jones I. J. Corrigan, S. J.

Thomas Ignatius Gasson was born at Sevenoaks, Kent, England, Sept. 23, 1859. He was the son of Henry and Arabella (Quinnell) Gasson. His early education was gained at St. Edmond's school in London.

In January, 1907, he was appointed president of Boston College and rector of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, holding the dual office until the spring of 1914, when he was succeeded by the Rev. Charles W. Lyons, S. J.

Matzenaeur's Resignation Is 'Protest of Soprano'

New York, Feb. 18—Mme. Margaret Matzenauer's resignation from the Metropolitan Opera Company is "a definite artistic protest against the vogue of the soprano."

Mme. Matzenauer

This was revealed by the famous singer as she left the city for a few days' rest, taking with her her daughter Adrienne, who is a pupil at the exclusive Lenox School.

The woman who for 19 years has been the principal contralto of the Metropolitan does not fear competition now. Her voice is as strong as ever, she feels.

She is simply irritated by the failure of the new composers to write contralto roles.

"Not only do they write only beautiful roles for the soprano, but the opera houses fail to produce, as they once did, the operas in which there are fine contralto roles," she said.

Mabel Willebrandt Arrested as Speeder

Washington, Feb. 18—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney-general in charge of prohibition prosecutions, was arrested here on a charge of speeding, it was revealed today.

Mrs. Willebrandt

Papers were made out in police court against her and signed by Chester Gray, assistant corporation counsel.

Policeman Hopkins said he paced the automobile driven by Mrs. Willebrandt at a speed of 38 miles an hour. Judge Ralph Given fixed next Friday as the day for trial.

Mrs. Brandon Charges 'Man of God' Won Her

New York, Feb. 18—The story of an alleged mesmerizing personality, which, she said, caused a blank of about 12 hours in her life, was told in Supreme Court by Mrs. Frances Brandon.

She is suing George J. Gillespie, Sr., president of the city board of water supply, for alleged breach of promise and fraud, asking $574,165.

Mrs. Brandon

The mesmerizing incident took place January 30, 1922, she said. She explained:

"Mr. Gillespie came up behind me and started to undress me. I said: 'Don't. You mustn't do that.'

"He said: 'Oh, it's all right. I am a holy man.'

"I sat on one chair and he on another. He said to me: 'I am passionately in love with you and I am not going to leave this house until you succumb!' He took my hand, saying: 'You need have no more fear of taking my hand than you would of taking God's.'

"Then he led me away and I went like a little child.

"I don't remember anything until the next morning. When I woke he was spraying himself with perfume from an atomizer."

TARIFF LOBBY 'EXPERT' GETS $75,000

Ex-Congressman De Fries of Calif. Gets Secret Advance U. S. Reports, He Admits

Washington, Feb. 18 (INS)—An illuminating insight into the fees collected by lobbyists in connection with the framing of a new tariff bill was afforded the Senate lobby committee today by Judge Marion DeFries, a former member of Congress from California, who for some years has represented various industries in Washington.

Judge DeFries told the committee that thus far he had collected in fees between $15,000 and $50,000 for his work in connection with the present tariff bill.

"How much will you ultimately receive if the rates you advocate are passed?" asked Sen. Walsh (D), of Massachusetts.

About $75,000.

GOT SECRET REPORTS

One single fee of $10,000 was collected by Judge DeFries to have the Treasury Department, by a decision, revoke the duty of $4 a ton on Belgian sand for glass making and placed on the free list, he admitted to the committee.

Judge DeFries, who at one time was a member of the U. S. Customs Court, also admitted that he had obtained from the Treasury Department confidential opinions of the Attorney-General in customs matters.

A telegram he sent to C. C. Cole, head of the Illinois Pacific Glass Corporation of San Francisco, told of having in advance a confidential report of the Senate Finance Committee on the tariff bill keeping Belgian sand on the free list.

FOR DOZEN INTERESTS

A dozen organizations were represented by him, Judge DeFries testified, among them the grape growers of California, the entire leather and tanning industry, the Pacific coast glass makers and the French glove manufacturers.

Judge DeFries, it was shown, had his clients "send good stiff wires to all Pacific coast Senators" when matters he was interested in came up for action.

It was brought out that, although DeFries had clients seeking higher tariff rates, he also took a fee of $5000 from the French glove manufacturers to have the ad valorem duty on gloves set aside and a specific rate of duty set.

grand jury room at 11:10, having waited in Thompson's office since before 10 o'clock.

He was accompanied to the Federal building by Manuel, who described himself as a friend of the Garrett family, and said he was with the former raider when he talked with Robert G. Allen.

Garrett, when told it was his last opportunity to make a statement before appearing before the grand jury, smiled and said:

"I have nothing to say."

Ruth St. Clair's Lawyer Is Held

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—Edward I. Garvar, attorney for Mrs. Ruth St. Clair, sentenced to life imprisonment as a fourth offender, today was held without bail for grand jury action on a charge of attempted bribery.

Garvar was alleged to have offered Howard Mayer, Flatbush shop owner, $500 if he would drop shoplifting charges against Mrs. St. Clair. Garvar denied the charge.

Girl, Hopping Train, Severely Injured

Lowell, Feb. 18—Dorothy Lightman, 19, student at the Emerson School of Oratory, was severely injured today when she attempted to board a moving train for Boston at the Boston & Maine railroad station.

She lost her footing and was dragged several yards by the train. At Lowell Corporation Hospital and X-ray of her spine was made.

U.S. Pays $15,546 War Bill After 125 Years

Toronto, Feb. 18 (AP)—It may take a long while, but Uncle Sam pays his bills. In the War of 1812 the United States seized a Canadian schooner. Twenty-five heirs of the owner has just split $15,546, what's left of an arbitration award of $25,644 made two years ago.

Trial Over the Phone Is Conducted by Ailing Judge

North Andover, Feb. 18—Judge C. J. Mahoney, confined to his home with a cold, listened to evidence over the telephone, heard the defendant's plea and ordered the case continued.

The defendant, Fred Roberts of Washington st., Haverhill, appeared in court on a charge of violating the automobile laws.

A court officer recited the evidence over the phone to Judge Mahoney and the judge then listened to Roberts' plea.

EDISON SAYS "WORK" IS BEST FORMULA FOR "HAPPINESS"

MEN USE BUT SMALL PART OF BRAINS

Inventor Declares the Standard of Living in America Will Be Much Higher

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(Copyright, 1930, by International News Service.)

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 18.—Thomas A. Edison believes man uses only a very small part of his brain.

He thinks people are "just beginning to suspect" how to live.

He does not know whether human beings exist on other planets.

His formula for happiness is "work."

He believes the standard of living in America will be very much higher, eventually.

He has never been "thrilled" by any of his great achievements.

The world renowned inventor, interviewed exclusively today by International News Service at his laboratory where he is making intensive research work on rubber producing plants, gave interesting and characteristically Edisonian replies to questions.

"What was the hardest job you ever encountered?" he was asked.

WORKS LONG HOURS.

"This rubber experiment job is the most complex proposition I ever struck, and that's the reason I like it," he replied.

He revealed he still is putting in long, hard hours. He said he goes to work in his laboratory at 9 a. m. and frequently works until 6 p. m. Sometimes he works at his house from 7 p. m. until 10 or 11 p. m.

He glanced at a cot in his laboratory as he talked. It was tucked under a table filled with all kinds of mysterious looking bottles.

"Next to rubber, what was your toughest scientific task?" he was asked.

"Well, I think the quadruplex was a hard proposition," Edison answered, thoughtfully. "The electric light was hard, too, because so many things had to be done to make it a commercial success."

He did not mention the phonograph, which he invented, nor the motion picture camera, the stock ticker and numerous other devices. The quadruplex was a telegraph achievement. The machine permitted two messages to go each way over a single wire at the same time.

"What do you regard as your greatest scientific achievement, the one that did most for mankind?" was another question.

SUCCESS MEANS "WORK."

Edison replied that he could not work at anything that he did not believe would benefit people. So then the reporter asked him what was his most "useful" invention, and this was his answer:

"I don't know. It depends upon the point of view. I suppose my electric lighting system was the most useful."

Asked his formula for happiness he succinctly replied, "work," and asked his formula for success he reiterated, "work."

Asked how much of a day man should devote to work and how much to play, he replied that "you can't give any rule because men, like plants, have such a variety of characteristics."

"How much of his brain does the average man use?" he was asked.

"Scarcely any." Edison replied. "The capacity of the human brain is tremendous. The brain of man is laying idle, for the most part. It is being hardly used at all."

"Have people learned how to take care of themselves—how to live?"

"No, they are just commencing to suspect how to live," said Edison.

Asked if he thought human beings existed on other planets, he answered that he did not know, saying: "I keep myself confined pretty closely to earth."

WIFE IS GREAT ASSET

"Very greatly, enormously," he said when asked to what extent he thought a good wife contributed to the success of her husband in life.

"At what age, approximately, should a young man marry?"

"Around 21," replied Edison.

"Should all boys strive for a college education?"

"Colleges are changing," said Edison. "They are throwing off the old methods that did not produce well. There is more reality being introduced into the colleges steadily.

"More technical schools are coming into being. They are getting down to realities and they see the need of a technical education for young men. This is the age of machines."

Edison's attention was called to the advice of a Massachusetts professor who advised students to "be a snob and marry the boss' daughter." Edison's comment was:

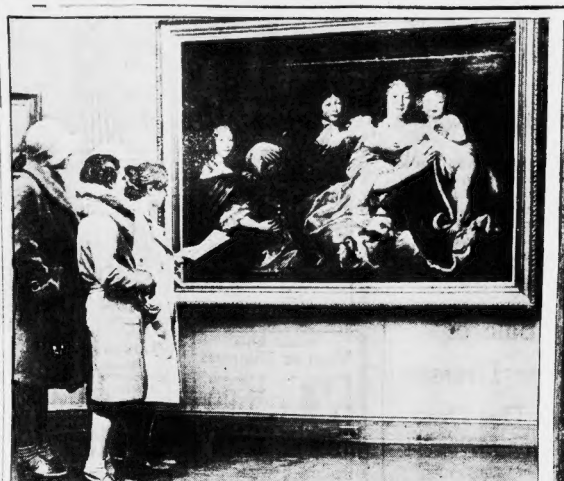

"Simply wind; academic, as they call it."

He declared that his idea of a college is the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He pointed out we are "a machine nation and we want engineers." He said when the M. I. of T. turns out students into the world they "know what to do and how to do it."

"What one thing in your life gave you the greatest thrill?" Edison was asked.

Quite seriously he replied: "I cannot say that I ever had what you call a 'thrill.' By the very nature of my life's work I had to expect to be continually disappointed but to keep on reaching for the solution of the problem. Then when the problem was solved I would go into something else.

Art Students Study Works of Early Dutch Masters at Smith College Exhibit

Students of art at Smith College, Northampton, have an opportunity for first-hand study of several of the old Dutch masters and a representative collection of painters in the Dutch school from the sixteenth to the eighteenth centuries, in the collection now on exhibition at the college galleries. Claire Wolff, Mary Dorr, Helen Hunt and Alice Carson, art students at the college, are seen admiring the portrait group of a mother with three children, by Abraham Van-Den Tempel, signed in the year 1668, and loaned for the exhibit from the collection of Dr. N Beets, of Amsterdam.

A Biblical study of marked power which excellently upholds the traditions of the early Dutch school is pictured above. The canvas represents the return of Abram to Melchizadek, king of Salem, following the recovery of his brother, Lot, who had been captured by enemies. Melchizadek is shown bringing forth bread and wine for Abram. The canvas is the work of Maerton Van Heemskerck, who lived in Baarlem from 1498 to 1579. The exhibition was arranged by the assistant professor of art, A. P. A. Vorencamp and is being held open to the public until March 10.

G. E. Sends Television Signal 20,000 Miles

Schenectady, N. Y., Feb. 18 (AP)—For the first time in history, according to officials of the General Electric Co., a television signal was transmitted over a distance of 20,000 miles today.

The experiment was conducted by Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, staff scientist of the General Electric who transmitted the signal from W2XAF, the company's experimental short wave station, to VK2ME at Sydney, Australia. The signal was received in Australia and rebroadcast, being picked up again at Schenectady.

A rectangular pattern, about one foot square, was the figure transmitted. The original pattern had very sharp outlines, but the image received after traveling 20,000 miles was said to be "fuzzy" in outline.

Dr. Alexanderson declared, however, that reception of the image at all was significant as intimating further possibilities in the transmission of pictures.

Weather, Cranky as Ever, Is Warm Again

Living up to the best traditions of New England variability, the weather today was back to normal with rising temperatures, following the bitter cold wave that took 14 lives.

In Boston the official mercury rose steadily from a minimum of 16 degrees at 11 o'clock last night, and at 9 a. m. had reached 30.

According to the Weather Bureau it will be cloudy all day, but neither rain nor snow is in sight.

MORE RELIABLE MOTORS URGED

St. Louis, Feb. 18 (AP)—Aviation was put on the block today before the International Aircraft Exposition as having one appeal to the public, that of reliability.

"No compromise with safety will be tolerated," Roland Chilton, consulting engineer of the Wright Aeronautical Corporation, said before a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers, "because the airplane still suffers by being relatively new and the popular mind shies from the unusual, a risk as in other things."

He placed the 'do or die' issue for aviation with the airplane motor and said, "The recent optimism as to the rate of increase in aircraft use will not be fulfilled unless developments in power plants result in increased reliability."

"Air travel is popularly regarded as doubtful, and until the landing characteristics of airplanes, now at about railroad train speed, are drastically changed, engine failures on transport machines are incompatible with public confidence."

The safety factor was pointed out by Robert Insley, vice-president of the Continental Aircraft Engine Company as being "probably even more important to stability than is the cost."

"Safety in an airplane," he said, "depends directly on the power plant."

Both predicted partial solutions of safety in developing the use of low grade fuel.

Sacrifices Life to Rescue Two

Port Henry, N. Y., Feb. 18 (AP)—The devotion of a wife and mother sent her back into her blazing home today to lose her life beside her husband and son in a fire which destroyed a two-family house.

All three members of the family were burned to death. They were: Thomas Collier, 69; Mrs. Collier, 65, and their son, Thomas Collier, Jr., 22.

Mrs. Collier rushed through the flames into the building, which had become a veritable furnace, in an attempt to rescue her husband and son.

Paris Court Refuses Justice to American

Paris, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Frenchland Rent Court today held that Americans are not entitled to the same protections as the French under the rent laws.

The court made its decision in denying Paul Rockwell's suit to get possession of a house he bought six years ago. The tenant, whose lease had expired, refused to vacate, asserting that a Frenchman could not be ousted by a foreigner.

Rockwell and his famous brother, Kiffen Rockwell, who was killed in wartime when serving with the Lafayette Escadrille, were in the first group of Americans volunteering to fight for France in the Foreign Legion. Paul Rockwell also served as a bomber in the French campaign against the Riffs.

This was the fourth time the suit had been tried in six years. Rockwell losing each time, but receiving his rights that Americans were guaranteed equal treatment with the French under the France-American convention of 1853.

His latest suit, the first brought by an American before the newly installed rent court, was filed after Premier Briand last July had issued a circular contending that the courts should recognize that similar tenancies with other countries.

Rockwell's case, which the American embassy is watching, will be appealed. It was described as a test by the American attorney, who said he feared that French judicial independence was endangered by the presence of foreign embassies. He pictured himself as a speculator who had taken advantage of the low value of the franc to buy a house at a price too low for a Frenchman, but a mere straw for an American.

Legge Favors U. S. Control of Dealers

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—A statement from Chairman Legge of the farm board, approving the Sumners bill to place commission merchants, brokers and dealers in perishable agricultural products under federal control, today was before the House agricultural committee.

Expressing the opinion the proposed law would suppress unfair practices among dealers in terminal markets, Legge wrote this would "enable cooperative associations handling perishable products to obtain greater returns for their members."

Detroit Bond Theft Suspect Held in R. I.

Providence, Feb. 18 (AP)—Police are holding a prisoner who describes himself as John F. Norton, 27, and has signed a hotel register here as H. Myers, Chicago, after finding $2500 in bonds numbered as among the loot in a Detroit robbery of November 11 last. Police believe neither of the names used by the man is correct, and have asked Chicago and Detroit police to aid in his identification.

According to Boston brokers, the bonds found with the prisoner were among a lot stolen from a Mrs. Norton at Detroit.

Cutler Elected to 'Phone Co. Board

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—Victor M. Cutter, president of the United Fruit Company, today was elected a member of the executive committee of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company. He succeeds W. Cameron Forbes, who requested retirement from the committee but who remains as a director.

The present board of directors was re-elected and a dividend of 2 per cent was declared, payable March 31, to stockholders of record March 10.

SALEM GIRL, 17, FOUND IN N. Y.

Salem police under the direction of Lieut. Charles A. R. Duffee are today endeavoring to identify a girl who has been taken in charge by the New York police and believed to be a resident of Salem.

She gave the name of Stella Berseck and she is 17 years old and the daughter of Mrs. Ilse Berseck of 929 Boston st, Salem.

A telegram was received from Chief Inspector John O'Brien of the New York police department early today stating that an attractive girl had been picked up in New York City and was being held at police headquarters. When found she was accompanied by a pedigreed dog which the girl and the police was the only friend she had in the world.

She said she was an orphan and came to the metropolis to seek a stage career. She had no funds and when hungry went to the police for aid. Later she gave the Salem address.

There is no Boston rd in Salem, but there is a Boston st, although the numbers do not run as high as 929. There is no Berseck in the latest issue of the Salem directory but there are several Brecks.

CAPITAL PAYS TRIBUTE TO MOORE

Hoover to Name Successor of Ambassador to Poland Within 30 Days

Universal Service

Washington, Feb. 18.—A successor to Alexander P. Moore, who died yesterday as ambassador to Poland will be named by President Hoover within the next 30 days.

Moore's death was received with deep sorrow in official Washington. President Hoover, his personal friend expressed deep regret.

Acting Secretary of State Joseph P. Cotton said:

"I am shocked to learn of the death of Alexander P. Moore, American ambassador-designate to Poland. Mr. Moore has served as ambassador to Spain, and later to Peru, which post he relinquished to accept the post at Warsaw.

His career in the diplomatic service has been marked by signal success and the country has not only a distinguished official but a loyal American citizen."

SPEAKS FOR POLAND

Victor Podoski, Polish chargé affaires here, said:

"I have learned with real sorrow of the tragic death of Mr. Moore. While I was fully aware of the gravity of his illness it was my earnest hope, as it was the hope of Poles generally, that he would recover his health and be able to undertake his duties as the first American ambassador at Warsaw.

"My country was prepared to welcome Mr. Moore with open arms. I know that I voice the sentiment of Poland in expressing deep grief in the death of this outstanding American renowned for his accomplishments in many fields, notably as a publicist and a diplomat."

Few American diplomats have enjoyed the love of Latin peoples as did Ambassador Moore. While in Spain he became the personal friend of King Alfonso. He learned the language, and this stood him in good stead when he was later appointed ambassador to Peru.

TASK IN PERU

It was while he was on duty in that country that he was largely instrumental in bringing about the settlement of the Tacna-Arica dispute, which for 40 years had been the contention between Chile and Peru.

It was while on duty in Peru that Ambassador Moore was first taken ill. The altitude of Lima had proved too great a strain and he tendered his resignation to President Hoover in order to retire from the diplomatic service.

However, the President's persuasion, he accepted the post of Ambassador to Poland. At the time of his appointment to Poland was a nobility, but at the request of the President, Congress elevated the rank of the embassy and Ambassador Moore was the first American to hold that distinction.

Funeral services were arranged for today at an undertaking parlor, only relatives and a few intimate friends of the ambassador in attendance. The body will be sent to Pittsburgh for burial.

Moore's Body Will Rest Beside That of Wife

Pittsburgh, Feb. 18 (AP)—The body of Alexander P. Moore, United States Ambassador to Poland, will be placed beside that of his wife, the former Lillian Russell, in a mausoleum in the Allegheny cemetery here when it arrives from Los Angeles, where Ambassador Moore died yesterday.

Complete arrangements for the funeral services here have not been made.

WAR MONSTER DESCRIBED BY U. S. OFFICER

Do you remember the mystery gun with which the Germans bombarded Paris from a distance of 75 miles during the World War?

It is now accurately described for the first time by Lieut.-Col. Henry W. Miller, an ordnance officer in the United States Army, in a book entitled "The Paris Gun." Col. Miller was chief engineer in charge of heavy artillery in the U. S. Army during the World War.

In addition to much vitally interesting information about the gun, the book contains a photograph of, as said to be an enlargement of a vest pocket camera picture snapped surreptitiously by a German.

MOUNTED ON TRACKS

The "Big Bertha" used by the Germans killed many innocent non-combatants and created havoc in Paris. Its turret was mounted on wheels embracing several pairs of railroad tracks.

According to Col. Miller the Germans had 8 or 10 of these mystery guns and used them chiefly to create panic and apprehension. Although the emplacements were found by the French, not one of the "Big Berthas" was ever captured, nor was one delivered to the Allies in compliance with peace treaty terms.

When the first gun was set for firing, it reached an elevation of 50 degrees. In setting the range the finders had to compute a straight line under the curve of the earth's surface from the gun to Paris, which shortened the actual distance on the earth's surface by half a mile. Even the rotation of the earth had to be figured to get the exact range of Paris.

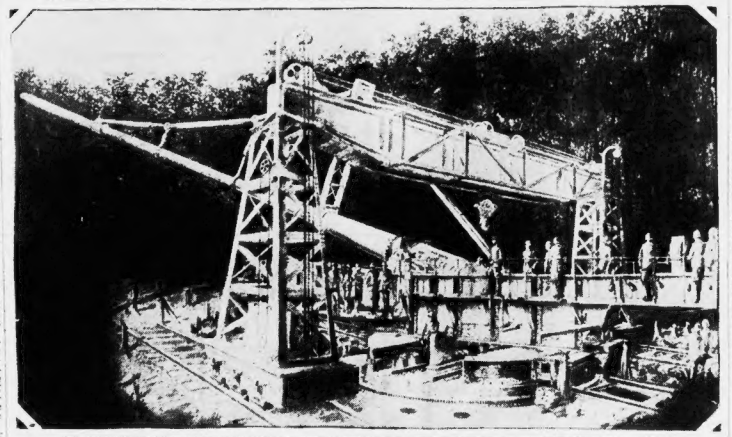

The projectile travelled at the rate of a mile per second and in 30 seconds was at its maximum heights of 24 miles, according to Col. Miller. In 186 seconds after leaving the gun, the projectile burst in Paris, so accurately was everything computed.

GREAT CARE TAKEN

Col. Miller says these big guns were able to fire 60 projectiles and then became practically useless. He tells in an interesting way of how much care was necessary after each shot and what was done by the Germans by relensing other arteries, etc. to prevent the French from learning where the "Big Berthas" were concealed.

Despite this, the French learned the location from which these big guns operated, within a few hours after they first bombarded Paris. The French dropped many shells near the big mystery guns but never secured a direct hit. All the "Big Berthas" were safely moved when the French fire menaced them.

Mystery Gun Which Shelled Paris in World War

Huge shells were hurled 75 miles by this gun which was secreted far behind the German lines on the Western front. The gun is accurately described for the first time by Lieut.-Col. Henry W. Miller in his book, "The Paris Gun." Col. Miller was chief engineer in charge of heavy artillery in the U. S. Army in the World War.

ASK DRUGGISTS TO SUPPORT DRUG BILLS

By KENNETH CLARK
Universal Service

Washington, Feb. 18—American druggists have been called upon to support enthusiastically the Porter anti-narcotics bills now pending in Congress.

The appeal came from Dr. Frank L. Stone of Washington, a former president of the National Association of Retail Druggists, and now chairman of the association's legislative committee.

In endorsing the bills, one is to create an independent narcotics bureau, and the other to withhold narcotic licenses from all persons who are drug addicts or have been convicted of a narcotic offense, Dr. Stone declared.

"All honest and responsible druggists agree wholeheartedly that addicts or convicts should not be allowed to handle narcotic drugs. We recognize what fearful tragedies follow from such practices.

"As the Porter bill (license bill) would require the government to issue licenses to all legal registrants except convicts or addicts, I see no reason why the druggists of America should not support it enthusiastically. The present rights and privileges of the druggists are not interfered with under the bill. It does not impose any restrictions on the legal trade in narcotics.

"The other bill to create a separate narcotics bureau is an administrative measure to help the government to fight the illicit narcotic traffic. It does not hamper the legal trade, but rather provides safeguards for the thousands of honest, law-abiding druggists in the country anxious to do everything possible to suppress the drug evil.

"The Porter legislation is a step in the right direction.

"At the same time, I think the government should take the most energetic steps to break up the smuggling of drugs, which are readily purchasable in Europe. The enlightened nations of the world should join the United States in this humanitarian move to protect civilization from the narcotic peril."

Fears Egyptians Will Know They're Dubs

Cairo, Feb. 18 (INS)—A vigorous fight is being waged here against compulsory education, on the grounds it will make peasants complainant of their dire poverty and engender a social revolution.

The chief opponent of the plan is "Al Ahram," one of Cairo's leading newspapers. At the recent opening of Parliament, King Fuad named compulsory education as one of the important items on his program for the near future, and thus lit again the fires of controversy which have raged about this question for the last year.

"If this reform goes through," says the "Al Ahram," "it means that in a few years there will be several millions of peasants who will know how to read and write.

"These peasants, numbering 7,000,000, or half the Egyptian population, live in sordid misery. If they are educated, they will realize their miserable social condition, of which they are now unconscious.

"At present they toil hard all the year around and at the end find themselves indebted to land-owners. In other words, 7,000,000 peasants work for nothing for the benefit of a few thousand land owners. Their realization of this would lead to a dangerous uprising. Therefore, would it be to the interest of Egypt to have them taught, so they might realize they are living more like animals than human beings?"

11 ARE DEAD IN BRAZIL RIOTS

Rio Janeiro, Feb. 18 (AP)—Eleven persons have been killed and 34 wounded in shootings at political meetings in Brazil during the last few days. The presidential campaign is nearing its climax and further disorders are expected between now and March 1, election date.

Principally the disorders have occurred at meetings of candidates in opposition to the government program.

Feeling is said to be most intense at Minas Geraes, where it is said the opposition head, President Antonio Carlos, is fortifying the executive mansion with sandbags.

FACE 66 BELOW IN GOLD RUSH

Fairbanks, Alaska, Feb. 18 (AP) Braving bitter weather which has varied from 20 to 66 degrees below zero while they seek quick wealth, prospectors on the scene of the recent gold strike on Beaver Creek in the Fortman District today had dug to bedrock three feet thick carrying an estimated value of more than $30 a foot.

Another hole was going down which is expected to demonstrate the width of the pay streak, while laymen were working up and down the stream to determine its length. Nearly everyone in the Ruby district, about midway between here and Nome, is exercising his staking right.

Liberal May Run in Maine District

Portland, Me., Feb. 18—The possibility that Congressman Carroll L. Beedy of the first Maine district may have opposition from an anti-prohibition candidate at the Republican primary election in June has become known here.

A prominent business man who refused to allow his name to be mentioned at present, admitted that he had been urged to make the run, so that there should be a clear-cut issue between the wets and drys, and he said that while he has not seriously considered becoming a candidate he is in sympathy with the move to draft a wet candidate and will do all that he can to place a proper man in the field.

Girl Killed, 3 Hurt as Auto Hits Truck

Detroit, Feb. 18 (INS)—One girl was killed and another girl and two University of Michigan students were injured when their automobile crashed into a freight truck early today. One of the students is expected to die.

The dead girl was Adele Lally, former University of Michigan student. The injured include Lucy Dombourajian, Ann Arbor, and Charles McHinnie, believed to be from Springfield, Ill.

RUMANIA CALLS OFF ILEANA'S WEDDING PLANS

Vienna, Feb. 18—The engagement of Princess Ileana of Rumania to Count Alexander von Hochberg, second son of the Prince of Pless, announced a fortnight ago, was reported cancelled by the Rumanian royal house in unofficial advices from Bucharest.

No reason was given for the breaking of the engagement, which was heralded with acclaim by the people and which resulted in Hochberg's name being elevated by the Rumanian Parliament to equality with the princess.

It was reported a court feud in which Hochberg was implicated six years ago, was connected with the action.

Count Hochberg, advices state, has paid his last formal visit to Princess Ileana and her mother, Queen Marie, and has departed for London. Queen Marie and her daughter expect to start for Egypt this week.

As Count Hochberg passed through Vienna en route to London his air was dejected.

Formal announcement of the breaking off of the engagement is expected after Princess Ileana's return from Egypt.

Ileana Told of Love Woes of Princess

Bucharest, Feb. 18 (Wireless)—It is harder for a princess to find a husband than it is an average girl!

This universal truism sentiment voiced by Princess Ileana in the Rumanian royal palace on the Black Sea a few months ago, came back sharply to memory today with the revelation that her engagement to Count Alexander von Hochberg, member of a princely German family, had been cancelled.

When Ileana spoke of the difficulties of a princess in finding her husband she was referring to herself alone, as for several years her mother, the dowager Queen Marie, had tried to find for her a satisfactory husband.

Await Recovery of Eielson's Body

Nome, Alaska, Feb. 18—Recovery of the body of Earl Borland, mechanic, from the snow-covered wreckage of the plane in which he and Carl Ben Eielson plunged to death near North Cape, Siberia, Nov. 9 last, has revived hope that the body of Eielson will be found soon.

It is believed either Joe Crosson or Harold Gillam, will bring back word of the recovery of Eielson's body the next time they fly to the scene of the wreck, 90 miles south-east of the icebound ship Nanuk, where storms are hampering the search.

Princess Ileana, who has broken her recently announced engagement to Count Alexander Hochberg because, it is said, of an "incident" in the count's past.

$100,000 LOSS AT TIVERTON

St. John, N. B., Feb. 18 (AP)—Damage to wharves and warehouses at Tiverton, N. B., caused by the storm which swept that district Sunday, today was estimated at $100,000. All wire communications with Long Island, on which Tiverton is located, were cut off by the storm.

The entire waterfront of the town was reduced to submerged and torn wreckage. Six piers with their warehouses, fishing tackle and products, waiting shipment, were swept into the bay.

Worcester Girl Is Married in France

Worcester, Feb. 18—Miss Victoria M. Lundberg, daughter of Mrs. Carl A. Lundberg of Catherine st., and Mallam L. Morris of Boston and New York, have been married in Paris, France, according to a cablegram received by Mrs. Lundberg.

FIRST MILLIONS BEING RAISED TO AID CHICAGO

Chicago, Feb. 18 (AP)—Broke for quite some time, Chicago had that old money feeling today.

Fresh from an accord with the citizens' relief committee, the city and county governments anxiously awaited the first of the millions which Silas H. Strawn, head of the relief group, set out today to raise.

The meeting of the relief group and a committee representing Mayor William Hale Thompson was held around the desk of Melvin H. Traylor, president of the First National Bank, who was one of the organizers of the international bank formed under the Young reparations plan.

$74,000,000 NEEDED.

Traylor gave new hope to city and county officials that Chicago banks would aid Strawn to raise the $74,000,000 estimated as the necessary minimum to operate the city and county departments, schools and sanitary district until collection of 1928 taxes begins probably around July 1.

So sure were county officials that some of the millions would soon begin trickling in, that it was planned to delay issuance of scrip to pay some 4000 employes 15 days' December salary.

Estimates of minimum operating expenses to July 1 were laid upon Traylor's desk by officials. The city asks $26,000,000; the county, $10,000,000; the school board, $28,000,000; and the sanitary district, $10,000,000.

PLAN TO RAISE FUND

However, Strawn said it would be a "Herculean task" to raise the whole $74,000,000 and indicated that if the amount fell short, it would be apportioned between the various governments.

The plan agreed upon was this: Large stores, manufacturing firms, railroads, utilities and banks will be asked to purchase 1930 tax warrants to be used in taking up their 1928 and 1929 taxes.

The Building Managers' Association pledged $10,000,000 for such a plan and recently Samuel Insull, utility magnate, was said to head a group of millionaires willing to co-operate with such a plan.

The Weather

For Boston and vicinity: Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; slightly warmer tonight; moderate southwest winds. The minimum temperature tonight will be near 31.

For Southern New England: Partly cloudy and slightly warmer tonight; Wednesday partly cloudy; fresh southwest winds.

For Northern New England: Cloudy tonight; Wednesday partly cloudy, rising temperature; fresh southwest shifting to northwest winds.

For Eastern New York: Cloudy, slightly warmer in extreme south portion tonight; Wednesday partly cloudy, warmer in north portion; fresh southwest winds.

OCEAN FORECAST.

Steamers departing today for European ports will have fresh southwest winds and partly overcast weather to the Grand Banks.

Now They're Making Brick 20 Feet Long

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 18 (AP)—The secret of making 20-foot bricks and molded sides of small houses was laid before the American Ceramic Society here today.

It is a new process in which bricks are made much like steel, of molten raw material. While the clay is white-hot, at about 2000 degrees Fahrenheit, it is shaped and pressed, and it is claimed that bricks thus can be made enormously larger than anything hitherto practicable. Always heretofore bricks have been shaped before baking and the old process limits size.

Prof. Joseph B. Shaw, head of the department of ceramics of Pennsylvania State College, inventor of the method, said the new bricks can be rolled like steel. They can be made reinforced with steel laid in the molten clay. The process dips into another of the practical building arts by making brick veneer. One brick can be impressed upon another to form a single structure. They are annealed like metal.

"Red Grange," Pyle Named in Bank Case

Urbana, Ill., Fbe. 18 (INS)—The names of Harold E. "Red" Grange, former star Illinois football player, and Charles C. "Cash and Carry" Pyle, came up in the trial of Edwin Filson, former president, and Harry E. McNevin, former cashier, of the defunct Illinois Trust & Savings Bank of Champaign in circuit court today.

Senator William Acton, who is prosecuting the case, questioned George R. McComb, receiver, as to the loans made to Grange and Pyle. Loans of $35,000 were made to the pair, according to the witness' statement.

"Only $25.48 out of the $17,000 which Grange owes to the bank has been paid," declared McComb.

A SUFFERER OF SCIATIC RHEUMATISM RELIEVED

"I Want Everyone to Know the Wonderful Results I Received from Bon-Tone"

There is no reason why anyone should suffer from such ailments as stomach trouble, kidney, liver or bowel disorder. Bon-Tone may be expected to do away with all these troubles in a short time. Made up of 14 of Mother Nature's roots, leaves, barks and berries, it is a wonderful herbal remedy and body builder.

Mr. Samuel B. Moody, of 62A Laighton Street, Lynn, who is well known in Lynn, having been in the laundry business for 20 years, states:

"I suffered from sciatic rheumatism for the past 11 years; and my legs would ache so that they seemed to be broken, especially during a change of weather. My stomach also caused me considerable distress; as my food would ferment and form gas, and the gas would press against my heart until I came near to smothering. My kidneys were in bad condition, and my back ached continually. I could get only temporary relief from my troubles, until I discovered that one of my friends had used Bon-Tone, and had had wonderful relief from trouble similar to mine.

"I have now used three bottles of Bon-Tone, and the results are such that I want everyone to know that I consider Bon-Tone a wonderful preparation for anyone who is suffering from any one of my former ailments. I recommend Bon-Tone to my friends, and want to recommend it publicly, as I think I would be very selfish if I didn't."

Call on Mr. Ryan, the Bon-Tone man, who is meeting the public daily at Epstein Drug Co., Inc., Scollay Square, Boston. Have him tell you why this medicine has become the sensation of the drug trade and a household word all through New England. Bon-Tone is also for sale in Cambridge at Cole Drug Store, 636 Mass. Ave., Central Square, and in South Boston at John S. Austin's Drug Store, 436 Broadway, Perkins Square.

Raps Churches That Drop Union Members

Churches at Marion, N. C., which recently dropped members because they were identified with trade unions, were condemned today by the Rev. Dr. Elmore McKee, chaplain of Yale University, in his noon address at King's Chapel.

"This does not represent Christianity," he said. "Christianity is love service for others, fellowship with the best and highest interests of mankind, to relieve the oppressed and to bring peace to the weary and heavily laden.

Somerville Schools Close Week Earlier

The Somerville school board today voted to close the schools for the summer vacation a week earlier than last year. The closing date will be Friday, June 20, and the reopening Sept. 9.

The extra week of vacation was decided upon because good weather and the number of holidays falling upon Saturday have resulted in less than the usual "no school" days during the present term.

SOVIET DEFIANT IN ANSWERING CHRISTIANS

Leningrad, U. S. S. R., Feb. 18 (AP)—"Curse us as much as you please; we will never turn from the path shown us by Lenin!" says a fiery manifesto issued by the Union of Militant Atheists today dealing with the recent papal denunciation of the Soviets for their attitude regarding religion.

"There will come a time when the atheistic workers of the entire world will convert the Vatican into a museum," says the manifesto. "The mummy Roman Pope will be interred with the mummy Siberian medicine man as a monument to the thousand years old religious delusion and deceit."

The manifesto also urges all workers to join the ranks of the atheists and march forward "toward new triumphs and socialism."

Soviet Organ Raps Briton Over Anti-Religious Speech

Moscow, Feb. 18 (AP)—The official government organ Izvestia today denounced Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, for his recent statement in the House of Commons saying that the British government would help combat the anti-religious campaign in the Soviet Union.

The paper described this as a "bold violation of the recently concluded Anglo-Soviet agreement which obliges both sides to refrain from interfering in the affairs of the other."

The present campaign abroad against the Soviet government's attitude toward religion, the paper declared, had a distinct political character and was a step toward a world war against the Soviet Union.

Ten Hub-Bound Cars of Butter Wrecked

North Troy, Vt., Feb. 18 (AP)—Ten cars of a Boston-bound freight train from Montreal on the main line of the Canadian Pacific were derailed in this village early today and their contents, largely butter, was strewn over the right of way. No one was injured. A broken wheel was believed to have been the cause.

Best of Canine World for Hub Dog Show

That the Eastern Dog Club show in Boston Garden from Thursday to Saturday inclusive, will be the finest dog show in this country during the present year is the prediction of Frank F. Dole, leading dog expert who will broadcast from WEEI tonight.

Boston Garden is now being put in shape under the direction of Supt. George Foley of the Eastern Dog Club, for the benching of 1365 dogs. Several hundred of these animals will arrive from the Hartford, Conn., show tomorrow.

Among them will be Weltona Frizette of Wildoaks, the wire-haired fox terrier that was a contender against Pendley Calling of Blarney for best in the show at New York last week. Many persons believed Weltona Frizette should have taken first honors in New York.

Cone's Dusty Boy and Boni Chico, French bulls owned by Dana Wingate Kelley of Medford, one of the largest breeders in the country, will be among the finest of their class exhibited.

Thet Timber of Earlsmoor, who took "winner's dog" at New York, will also be shown here. In speaking of this week's show in Boston Dole said:

"From the spectators' standpoint I find the Garden better even than the Madison Square Garden in New York.

"The benching hall is airier lighter, and more spacious. It's nearer to the judging rings, but the fact that it is in another building, will make this show so quiet you won't know it's a dog show."

"I have 'covered' dogs and dog shows since 1885, but I never saw so fine a layout as the one at the Garden. The telephone arrangements, the benching facilities, the seating arrangements are exceptionally good. I predict this Eastern show will be better than anything I have ever seen."

"And I predict that it will be the greatest dog show from every other angle—from that of handler, judges, even dogs—and that it will be the most successful America has ever seen.

"And I don't except the Westminster, either. They may have had more dogs, but none better, nor under half as good conditions. Boston ought to be proud of being able to put on such a dog show."

Three Are Injured as Auto Hits Pole

Westerly, R. I., Feb. 18—Three persons were seriously injured here when the automobile in which they were riding skidded and crashed into a telegraph pole on the Westerly-Stonington highway.

Those injured were Florence Reddy, 56, of Greenbrier st., Dorchester, Mass; her brother, Joseph Reddy, 50, and his son, Joseph, Jr., 11. They were taken to Westerly Hospital and treated for cuts about the head and body.

CHARGES FIRM BRIBED CHICAGO OFFICIALS

Chicago, Feb. 18 (AP)—Bribery of public officials from a $1,000,000 fund of the U. S. A. Company, electrical contractors, was charged by the state's attorney office in a petition filed in Criminal Court asking possession of the company's accounts books.

Assistant State's Atty. John E. Northup informed the court that he wished the records to use in his investigation of the Chicago Sanitary district.

In the petition, George E. Chamberlain, president of the U. S. A. Company, who was recently indicted by a federal grand jury on income tax evasion charges, is charged with withdrawing the $1,000,000 from the company funds by means of checks made payable to himself.

With this money, Northup charges, Chamberlain purchased valuable gifts for public officials, including lavish silver service sets, indoor golf outfits costing $1000, expensive pieces of furniture and movie cameras.

The U. S. A. Company has received considerable work from the sanitary district, one particular contract being that of the ornamental light installation on McCormick boulevard, built by the district.

Atlas Has No Secrets to "Map Tourists"

North Acton, Feb. 18—North Acton's embryo Marco Polo, little Vincent Sheehan, nine-year-old son of Postmaster and Mrs. Michael Sheehan, knows by heart this great whirling orb and all that's upon it, its continents and oceans, its nations and big cities.

Just as a proof of his intimacy with the United States, though his knowledge is not limited to this country, Vincent has evolved an unusual blindfold test that probably would rout most adults.

A bandage is placed over his eyes. A puzzle map of the United States comprised of 50 segments with each state cut out along its boundary lines, lies on a table before him.

One of the segments of the puzzle is lifted out and handed to Vincent. Quickly his fingers run around its edges.

"Tennessee," he cries in shorter time than it would take to whirl a globe around. And then, without urging or questioning, he's rattling off the states that border on Tennessee.

Neighbors take keen delight in Vincent's prowess, and often drop in evenings to see if they cannot trap him in his novel test.

"How would you go to China?" he was asked.

"China," he said eagerly, "I'm going there some day—and by water. I'll cross the Atlantic from New York City, and then sail around Africa, or go through the Mediterranean Sea, the Suez Canal, the Red Sea, Indian Ocean, and then up into China."

BRITISH JAILS ARE CLOSING

London, Feb. 18 (AP)—Britain's criminals are one class which seems to be traveling on the road which leads to gradual extinction. While the criminal "dole," as the prisons' appropriation might be termed is decreasing, the government today finds itself embarrassed by too many prisons and military barracks.

Maidstone Jail, which is to be closed shortly, is the 27th institution of its kind to disappear since 1914. Since that year the prison population of the United Kingdom has declined by 70 per cent.

The surplus of military barracks arises from reduction of the military forces and partly because the plan of army organization today calls for the concentration of troops in definite training areas rather than their housing in different parts of the country.

Bay State Pastor to Be Made Bishop

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 18—First steps toward consecration of the Rev. Henry Wise Hobson, rector of All Saints Church, Worcester, Mass., as bishop coadjutor of the diocese of southern Ohio were taken by the standing committee of this Episcopal diocese.

The committee forwarded officail notice of the election to the standing committees of the 72 diocese in the country, who must confirm the action of the convention in the election. The elevation is expected to take place here early in May.

"CONDEMNING SHADOWS" [Shakespeare, 1564-1616]

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—you men who would keep that trim, proper form, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful, modern figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco —The Cream of the Crop—"It's Toasted." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

$40,000 CAFE IS RAIDED UNDER RUM TAX LAW

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—Denuded by a raid of its elaborate furnishings, the Bedford Nest, a popular Brooklyn cafe, was guarded by federal prohibition agents today while its owners face confiscation of their property for failure to pay liquor tax.

Maj. Maurice Campbell, prohibition administrator for the New York district, and U. S. Attorney Amell of Brooklyn, led 18 agents brought in from Manhattan in a raid on the cafe.

A provision of the internal revenue laws, which permits raids without search warrants and authorizes the confiscation of property including the land where intoxicants are stored or dispensed without payment of liquor tax, was invoked against the place.

50-FOOT BAR SEIZED.

Plumbers and electricians who accompanied the raiders disconnected fittings and wiring. Photographers took pictures of the interior of the place and of the proceedings. Vans were backed up to the door and the furnishings, including a 50-foot bar, leather-upholstered lounges and other equipment were carted away to a government warehouse. The value of the fittings was placed between $30,000 and $40,000.

Three men were arrested on charges of selling and possessing liquor. Several weeks ago two waiters were arrested in the place on similar charges.

RAIDERS ON WATCH.

Maj. Campbell said his men had been watching the place for some time and agents were stationed outside the place for several hours before the arrival of the raiders to see that no liquor was removed from the premises. The place, located at 1286 Bedford ave., was ostensibly a restaurant.

The law under which the raid was made is the same as that invoked against Helen Morgan's night club, Chez Morgan, two years ago. The club furnishings were removed, but when the case was heard in federal court, prohibition authorities were ordered to restore the property to its owner.

BERLIN POLICE BATTLE 'REDS'

Berlin, Feb. 18 (AP)—Police and Communists had numerous small skirmishes today following a raid on Liebknecht House on Buelowplatz, headquarters of the Communist organ Rote Fahne.

The authorities made the search to find material on which to base prosecution for attempted high treason by dissemination of inflammatory pamphlets. The police searched the place for three hours and obtained enough revolutionary material to fill two motor trucks.

As the 250 police left the house, Communists filled the street, jeering at them. One officer's helmet was knocked off, whereupon he drew his revolver and fired shots into the air.

Mexican Mayor Is Ousted, Besieged

Puebla, Mexico, Feb. 18 (AP)—Driven out from the municipal building by his defeated opponent, Luis Salgado, mayor of Tezlutlan, a small town in this state, established headquarters at a hotel only to be surrounded and besieged by friends of his opponent.

Some of his own supporters tried to break through the lines of the besiegers, but were met with a volley of shots which wounded four of them gravely. Three towns in this State have refused to accept the municipal governments recognized by the State Legislature.

Leaps 1000 Ft. Into Caterpillar Club

Flint, Mich., Feb. 18 (AP)—Clifford W. March, 28, of Bay City, pilot of a Cleveland-Bay City air mail plane, saved his life by leaping from his plane in a parachute today when the motor failed and the ship went into a spin at a thousand feet.

The plane was wrecked, but three pouches of mail were saved. By his parachute jump, March becomes a member of the famous Caterpillar Club of which Col. Lindbergh is a member.

Lift Out Your Corns

ICE-MINT

THE NEW DISCOVERY ENDS

Foot Troubles Quickly

This new discovery, made from a Japanese product, is certainly a wonder the way it draws out inflammation from a pair of swollen, burning, aching feet. It takes the soreness right out, then the corn or callous shrivels and lifts off.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful. Just think! Not one bit of pain while applying Ice-mint or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

It imparts such a delightful, soothing, cooling feeling to the feet that you will sigh with relief.

Ice-mint is the real Japanese secret for fine, healthy little feet. It prevents foot odors and keeps them sweet and comfortable. It is greatly appreciated by women who wear high heel shoes and by men who have to stand on their feet all day. Just ask in any drug store for a little Ice-mint and give your poor, suffering, tired, swollen feet the treat of their lives. It costs little and there is nothing better.

Letters From Readers

Asks Honest Chance for Prohibition Law

Editor Boston American:

A careful consideration of all the facts surrounding the prohibition reform would undoubtedly be the means of settling permanently the minds of a large proportion of the group who, by casual consideration or hostile propaganda have been led to believe that prohibition was "put over" by trickery, and that at the present time it is an imposition upon the liberty of our people.

If those who have been inclined to think that prohibition is an unwarranted interference with the individual's personal right to determine what he himself shall eat and drink will consider the vast economic aspects of the trade in alcoholic liquors, I believe that they will be led to the conclusion that it is their duty as patriotic citizens to tolerate personal inconvenience with equanimity in order that the nation as a whole may deal effectively with the great waste and ruin of a social evil.

It is under the protection of America's laws that we have acquired our property and are assured of safety for our families. Do we not owe some return to the people as a political body? Can we encourage or condone violation of the prohibition law without imperiling that social stability which is right now protecting us and our property interests from anarchism?

If, in the face of honest trial, the prohibition law should in time prove a mistake, there is a way in which that mistake can be remedied, but that way is not to be found in evasion or legal fiction. The prohibition law was honestly passed and can only be displaced by methods equally honest.

Above-board efforts for repeal, Sincerely engaged in, are respected for their sincerity. But so long as prohibition is the policy of America, loyalty is the policy of every right thinking American.

GORDON BARNES.

Editor Boston American:

In reply to G. Fitzsimmons regarding birth rates, I wish to refer him to the 1930 World Almanac.

On page 411 you will find that in 1926 the birth rates for England and Wales were 17.8, Scotland, 20.9; Irish Free State, 20.5; Northern Ireland, 22.5; France, 18.8; Spain, 22. On the previous page the rate for the United States in 1926 is 19.7.

These are the latest figures available and I don't believe that such changes could occur within two to four years. P. W.

Armed Border Held Menace to Peace

Editor Boston American:

According to recent editorials of Greater Boston newspapers the Canadian Government registers its amazement at the unprecedented proposal of the powers that be in Washington to increase American ports of entry on its border from 100 to about 300, and to permit a cordon of armed guards to patrol between these outposts, with the claimed privilege, "under certain circumstances," of shooting violators of the lunatic Volstead Act.

This contention, if enforced, would be bound to cause our Canadian friends to spend money like drunken sailors in order to please, and furthermore endanger the cordial relations, which for the last 100 years has been almost perfect.

I have been an American since the year 1885. When, as a small boy from Sweden, I arrived in the United States, which at that time and for numerous years following kept up its tradition of freedom. It is probably that tradition which makes me say, "That the existing Canadian Government deserves contempt, unless it in good plain English tells us to mind our own business and also in diplomatic language tells us to look behind the curtain in Washington.

Says Hearst Papers Put Markham Over

Editor Boston American:

In speaking of Edwin Markham's poem, "The Man With the Hoe," it was said in Boston that this poem was made famous by the publicity given it in a New York daily.

This is a mistake. Edwin Markham read this poem before a number of writers who had gathered in San Francisco to hear it. Among those present was the editor of the Hearst San Francisco paper, "The Examiner." He gave it a page, with illustrations. It then became world known. When Markham removed to New York city, "The American" then gave this poet more space, and published many of his poems. This is simply said to give credit where it is due and correct a false impression made in Boston the other day. EDWARD I. LOOMIS.

Sermon on Sin as Antidote for Crime

Editor Boston American:

You can always hear something new in the Modern Athens, which is Boston. I heard crime accounted for this week, because sermons on sin are so unpopular among the generality of people. They consider them back numbers. Preachers do not dare to say much about sin in their sermon, because the congregations tell them that is not what they want to hear in a modern sermon.

But it is true to my way of thinking, that if Boston people could be put back 300 years and hear the preachers of that generation, they would hear them hammering sin upon an anvil that would bring fear and dismay before them. Why they used to hold on to the pews in those days, when Jonathan Edwards of Northampton, described the torment of the sinner in another life.

A little of this would go a good ways today, we have so little of the dread of sinning in modern life.

CALL NOTABLES TO TESTIFY IN 'DRY' HEARING

Washington, Feb. 18—Lists of witnesses who will appear before the Congressional prohibition inquiry were announced today.

Henry B. Joy, Detroit, expresident, Packard Motor Car Co.; Pierre S. DuPont, Wilmington, capitalist; Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president, Pennsylvania Railroad; Col. Grayson M. P. Murphy, banker, and Robert K. Cassatt, Philadelphia banker, head the list of representatives of "Big Business." Irenne and Lamont DuPont also may appear.

Dr. Samuel Harden Church of Pittsburgh, president of the Carnegie Institute, heads the scientific and medical witnesses. Others include Dr. Fabian Franklin; Dr. Charles Norris, New York; Dr. Stewart McGuire, Richmond, Va., and Dr. L. W. Williams, head of the New York Academy of Science.

Noted writers listed as witnesses include Wallace Irwin, Owen Johnson and Channing Pollock.

The Rev. Dr. Macom of Newport, R. I., will represent the clergy.

Other witnesses include Judge M. Shaw, Chicago lawyer; Frederick R. Coudert, New York lawyer, ex-Representative J. W. Phillips of Pennsylvania; R. Carlton Wright, South Carolina editor; Marion Eppley, scientist; Colonel Joseph Crowell, Cleveland, assistant secretary of war.

Pierce Hewett, described as a North Dakota farmer and land owner is making a trip especially to testify regarding prohibition conditions in rural communities.

Mrs. W. W. Montgomery of Philadelphia will testify and bring three other women witnesses with her.

BLAME IS LAID TO HOOVER

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—Rep. Garner of Texas, House Democratic leader today said "lack of leadership in the White House has resulted in a chaotic condition in Republican ranks in the House and Senate."

The Texan asserted the "spirit of uncertainty emanating from the White House has developed chaos in party leadership."

"There has been no leadership of the Republican party since President Hoover entered the White House," Garner asserted.

"There is not a leading public question on which the President is willing to make a suggestion, or such less offer a solution. All of his statements are ambiguous, they can be taken in two ways."

"You hear people talk of the President as either lacking in capacity of courage," Garner said. "Either he lacks one or the other, or both, or he would not let such chaos develop in party leadership. The country has lost confidence in the President, and that is what is causing the chaotic economic conditions.

"The Republican members of both the House and Senate have lost confidence in the President. Even old timers, standpatters and conservatives don't know what to do, and they want and try to be regular."

The Texan said that President Hoover had not prepared himself on the tariff, and does not make his position ascertainable on any matter of great importance.

"His statements teach either that he world is round or flat, and it has caused uneasiness in the business world that has resulted in a ratchful waiting attitude toward the President," he added. "Up to date, President Hoover has made no effort to show whether he has the capacity or courage to lead his party."

Brown Opposes P. O. Workers Pay Raise

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—An adverse opinion by Postmaster-General Brown was read today to the House postoffice committee's opening hearing on the Dyer bill to raise the salaries of messengers, watchmen and laborers in the postal and railway mail service.

Representative Dallinger (Rep.) of Massachusetts said the Postmaster-General was trying to make the Postoffice Department pay for itself, but that the proposed increases in salaries ranging from $1600 to $1800 per annum was "no more than a living wage."

Gov. Trumbull Before Glider Crash

Remarkable photograph shows the "flying" governor, John H. Trumbull of Connecticut, in the glider just before it crashed at Newark (N. J.) airport, where he was attending dedication of new hangar. The governor, father of Mrs. John Coolidge, was nearing the end of a flight in the glider when the tow line snapped and the motorless machine tipped sideways, hurling him to the ground. He escaped injury, though shaken up, and expressed his confidence in the safety of the glider as a means of air travel. Photo by International Newsreel shows the tow line that snapped and wound around one of the governor's legs as machine dropped to ground.

JAPS, FLOCKING TO BRAZIL, MAY CHANGE RACE

Rio de Janeiro, Feb. 18 (AP)—With hundreds of Japanese reaching Brazil each month, their influence on the future Brazilian race is interesting immigration officials and other authorities.

This is because in the past Brazil has been a real melting pot where there are white and Indian, white and negro and negro and Indian crossed in the 40,000,000 population, and because the Japanese do not intermarry to any extent with other races.

Two steamship lines run direct services from Japan and each vessel has accommodations for from 600 to more than 1000 steerage passengers. Recently there arrived here the Buenos Aires Maru, the newest motorship of one of the Japanese companies, whose steerage accommodations of 1000 have been booked for several voyages.

In the past the majority of the Japanese have been settling in the State of Sao Paulo, but at present there are two Japanese colonization projects in the Amazon Valley, one in the State of Para and the other on the Tapajos near the Ford concession.

In Sao Paulo the Japanese have taken up their own land for the most part as individuals, many have embraced Catholicism and use Portuguese names given them at baptism.

Cal Meets His Gas Man in Tony, the Star

Los Angeles, Feb. 18 (INS)—Former President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge today were at home to a distinguished group of Californians of the business and public service worlds after their arrival for a visit to Southern California.

At Hollywood, when the Coolidge schedule allows for a visit to the film studios, an old friend will be on hand to greet them.

He is Antonio Moreno, dark-haired film star.

When Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were living at Northampton, Mass., before he was governor of Massachusetts, "Tony" Moreno, a young Latin, used to read their gas meter.

"I am sure Tony has done very well," Coolidge said when he was informed by William Gardner, a Northampton neighbor, now living here, about "Tony."

Mrs. Coolidge laughed gleefully at the thought of the youth, who was taken to Northampton at the age of five, and there adopted by a family, having progressed so remarkably fro mthe reading of meters to a place in the hearts of movie fans.

One topic barred by the former President is politics. Mr. Coolidge frowned upon any mention of parties, policies, programs and the campaigns of 1932 and 1936.

CLARA BOW

explains what makes a Girl

ALLURING . .

"THERE'S ONE THING that stands out above all others in making a girl really alluring," says Clara Bow, whose vivid beauty and personality have won her world-fame in motion pictures. It's lovely skin.

"You may have marvelously appealing eyes—and a lot of charm—and a beautiful figure.

"But just notice the way people cluster around a girl who has lovely skin! And any girl can have lovely skin if she takes good care of it!

"I got my first chance in the movies, partly, at least, because of what my father calls my 'baby-smooth' skin

"You see, motion picture directors found out long ago that unless a girl has marvelous skin she can never make millions of hearts beat faster when she appears in a close-up. The incandescent lights reveal the tiniest flaw in the skin!

"That's why we motion picture actresses have to keep our skin at its very best every minute.

"Several years ago some of us began using Lux Toilet Soap, and were enthusiastic about it.

NANCY CARROLL

"So other screen stars began to use it—until it wasn't long before almost every important actress in Hollywood was using it. Janet Gaynor—Joan Crawford—Billie Dove—Bebe Daniels—Dorothy Mackaill.

"Take Nancy Carroll, for instance, one of Paramount's most fascinating girls. She keeps her fair skin delectable as an apple blossom with Lux Toilet Soap.

"And Mary Brian, too. Her skin is clear and smooth as a little girl's. Jean Arthur, too, keeps her skin lovely with Lux Toilet Soap.

"In fact," Clara Bow goes on to say, "nearly every girl I know in Hollywood uses this soap. And aren't we glad that we have kept our skin in good condition—the talkies have even more close-ups than the silent pictures have!

"When I get letters from girls all over the country—so many of them saying nice things about my skin—I long to answer every one of them and tell these girls that they can keep their skin just as beautifully smooth as we screen stars do—by using Lux Toilet Soap."

Screen Stars use it

There are now 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars. Of these, 511 use Lux Toilet Soap, both at home and in their studio dressing rooms. Indeed, as a result of their enthusiasm this fragrant white soap has been made official in all the great film studios in Hollywood.

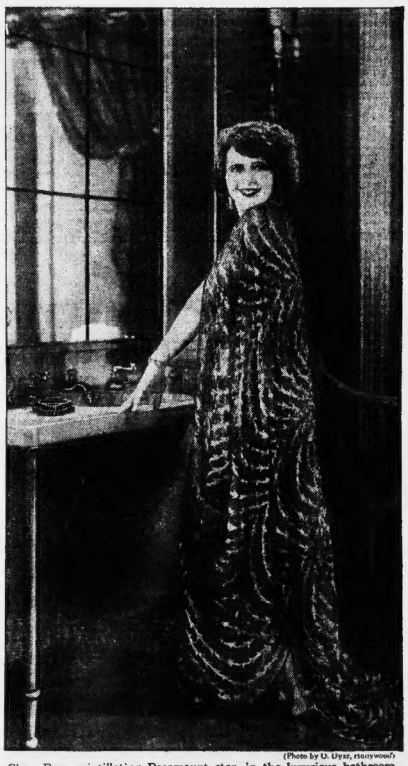

KAY FRANCIS

If you aren't one of the millions of girls and women who are using this fine soap, made by just the same method as are the finest soaps of France, do try it. You will be delighted with its quick generous lather—even in the hardest water. And with the way it keeps your skin always charmingly fresh and smooth. Order several cakes—today.

She says: "Just notice the way people cluster around a girl who has lovely skin! . . . And beautifully smooth skin means even more to a screen star than to other women. Lux Toilet Soap is such a help in keeping the skin in perfect condition!"

COOK-COOS

by Ted Cook

A Chicago building manager has found that for every four male hats removed in elevators, one less passenger may ride.

The discovery seems rather unimportant, but many people will wonder how the experimenter managed to get four men in an elevator who would remove their hats.

He also contends that extra trips to pick up passengers crowded out by the hats cost Chicago office buildings $25,000 a year.

They could save money and help the cause by making the gals who inspire hat doffings to get out and walk up.

Any woman who makes four men remove their hats isn't safe in an elevator, anyway.

HEALTH PROBLEM IS SOLVED FOR MANY

They Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Daily

Constipation is the most common menace to health today. It is extremely dangerous in itself and is the source of many other complicating ailments. There is no permanent relief in pills and drugs. Many of them are dangerous.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve and to prevent both temporary and recurring constipation. If it does not, money will be refunded.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is roughage. And roughage in food helps eliminate the possibility of constipation. Most modern foods do not contain roughage. Two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily is the proper amount. In recurring cases, ALL-BRAN should be eaten with each meal. It is an essential in any reducing diet. In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains iron, the blood builder. It is the original ALL-BRAN, proved effective by millions and recommended by physicians.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has an appetizing flavor. Eat it with milk or cream, in cereals and fruit juices, in soups and in cooked foods. Your grocer has ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

A perfect dessert for children—

All children love desserts—but mothers know the danger of serving youngsters too many sweets.

Kre-mel—America's New Dessert—solves the problem! It's not alone a smooth, tempting, delicious dessert but a real health food as well! Kre-Mel is rich in Dextrose, the food element that gives strength and energy to growing children.

Kre-Mel is the result of years of experiment—a rare blend of the finest ingredients and pure flavors.

Prepared in less than 5 minutes—costs but 5c a package and comes in 4 different flavors—Chocolate, Vanilla, Caramel, Coffee.

Is it any wonder mothers acclaim Kre-Mel?

Your grocer sells Kre-Mel—we suggest you try all four flavors—the cost is so trifling!

Land Owner's in Suits for Air Rights

Mineola, N. Y., Feb. 18 (AP)—Suits for damages totaling $115,700 and involving a property owner's air rights have been filed with the Nassau county board of assessors as the outgrowth of an airplane accident in which a plane crashed into a dwelling house.

Defendants are the estate of the [illegible] flier [illegible] De Lasser, the De Lasser Service Corp., the Aircraft Corp., the town of Hempstead, Nassau county, the state of New York and the United States government.

Mrs. Emily Sysak, who is suing the county for $7,[illegible] for injuries she suffered, charges the county with negligence in permitting the [illegible] to fly in the air owned by said persons (Mrs. Sysak) with county's knowledge and consent, knowing that the county of Nassau owns no air above the said person and has not acquired title to the air for use as an aerial public highway for aircraft."

Mrs. Sysak charges that the crash hurled her to the floor, causing a recurrence of an old injury to her stomach and making her an incurable neurasthenic.

Not So Dumb by HELEN KLUMPH

How a Girl Helped Her Affianced in His Business

By HELEN KLUMPH

From Marion Davies' forthcoming all-talking picture by Wanda Tuchok and Edwin Justus Mayer, based on the play "Dulcy," by Marc Connelly and George Kaufman.

CHAPTER 14

PERKINS was in the upstairs hall, watching with some misgivings, when Angela and Vincent tiptoed out with their bags.

It looked pretty funny to him. He'd just like to stop them and demand to know what they had in those bags. He wasn't going to let anyone get away with anything. Not while he was in the house!

She was a strange person, this Miss Parker. He couldn't figure her out at all. Coming down to the judge, knowing for sure he was guilty, and getting him off on probation. And making him a butler! If she had wanted a little strong-arm work done, why that would have been different. This easy life was palling on him.

But when he saw the bags stowed safely in the hall closet under Miss Dulcy's very eyes, he shrugged his shoulders and went on with his work. She was a strange one.

That was nothing to Forbes' verdict when Dulcy ignoring his portentous silence, bounded from her chair and cried, "I've got it."

"What?" asked Gordon in a tone of abject despair.

"We'll play Baffle," Dulcy announced with enthusiasm.

"I'm sure Mr. Forbes would love it. Wouldn't you, Mr Forbes?"

Mr. Forbes did not look as though he would love anyone or anything at that moment. Only Angela and Vincent looked interested, while Van Dyke wore an air of amused tolerance.

"What is a Baffle, Miss Parker?" he asked finally, breaking an awkward silence.

Gordon sought to restrain her. He knew it would be better just to let the matter drop. Forbes stared at her defiantly as if he dared her, he just dared her, to go on and suggest anything else after all he had been through.

But Dulcy was aglow with enthusiasm. Whatever her mistakes in the past, she knew she was on the right track now. Mr Forbes had such an analytical mind he would love just playing Baffle. And it would get him out of the way and leave the road clear for Angela and Vincent to elope.

"Well," Dulcy began, with the air of a magician who is about to bring innumerable rabbits out of a hat, "you play Baffle like this."

And, undeterred by Forbes' stony silence and Gordon's frantic signals for her to stop, she went right on.

"You hide something valuable and everybody is given a clue, and they deduce from the clue where the object is hidden. They are only allowed five—no—maybe ten minutes would be better," she added with a beaming smile of understanding at Angela who was twisting her handkerchief in nervous anticipation.

"It's very simple and lots of fun."

Though she addressed her last remark directly to Forbes, he merely grunted and slumped lower in his chair.

"Let's see," Dulcy went on, completely ignoring his definite antagonism, "we must have something very valuable."

As she glanced at Angela who was nervously fingering her pearls she was seized with an inspiration.

"I've got it. Just the thing."

With a businesslike air, she reached for the clasp on Angela's neck, while Forbes, unable to believe his eyes, looked on in astonishment.

"But, Dulcy," Gordon objected in a tone of utter horror, "they're valuable."

"That's just the point, silly." She dismissed him with a wave of her hand. "It is much more fun if you hide something really valuable. Nobody would really try to find anything that was hidden if they didn't want to get it back.

"Now then."

Dulcy stood facing the others, while she wiggled her fingers behind her back in triumphant signal to Angela. Earnestly she explained.

"On the evening of last Wednesday, Mrs. Godfrey was killed and robbed of her pearls. Oh, no, I guess that's too gruesome. We don't want to be cruel even in play, do we?"

She glanced archly at Mr. Forbes, who looked as if he would spring at her and snatch the pearls from her at any minute.

"Well, anyway, she was robbed

CURLEY FAVORS RAISING COMPULSORY SCHOOL AGE

Queries Eight Bay State Congressmen on Dry Repeal

MAYOR BACKS SCHOOL AGE MEASURE

Scores Industries That Require "Sweat of Children" to Carry on Business

Any industry that requires the sweat of children to insure its output is not worthy of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

This was the opinion of Mayor Curley as voiced today by ex-Senator Thomas H. Bilodeau at a State House hearing on the bill to raise the compulsory school attendance from 14 to 15 years.

The bill embodies the recommendations contained in the report of the special commission appointed to study the question of increasing the educational requirements of the commonwealth by advancing the compulsory attendance age.

Ex-Senator Bilodeau appeared for the Mayor after several speakers had referred to the opposition [illegible] proposal [illegible] certain industrial sections [illegible] was at a low ebb.

"The Mayor has directed me to record him in favor of this bill," said Bilodeau. "He believes that increasing the educational requirements at this time will not affect industry. The Mayor believes that any industry which requires the sweat of children for its continuance is not worthy of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

More than 200 persons, men and women teachers, crowded the committee room for the hearing, [illegible] of them prepared to speak for or against the proposed measures.

NEED HIGHER TYPES.

Senator J. Bradford Davis of Haverhill, chairman of the special commission, first to speak in support of his report, outlined the history of the efforts made to obtain legislation raising the school age limit to 15 years.

He said that "industry today realizes it must have a higher type of boys and girls, and young men and women, who are better trained and, therefore, more efficient."

Senator Davis asserted that neither the textile, nor its allied industries, would be greatly affected by passage of the proposed legislation. He added that the report in no sense reflected pride of authorship by the commission, but a sincere effort to bring about improvement in education facilities for the youth of the Commonwealth.

John F. Scully, legislative counsel of the Superintendents' Association, held that four hours of continuation school work each week was not sufficient for children between the ages of 10 and 15, and he strongly supported the amendment to substitute 10 hours in the bill.

MOTHER, SON 'HONEYMOON;' BRIDE HOME

Groom's Mother His Nurse, Doctor Ordered Trip, Car Just Built for Two

A little car just built for two is en route to Florida, with a bridegroom in one seat, and his mother in the other.

And at the switchboard of the Lynn Telephone exchange the bride, Mrs. Vernon L. Tufts, continues on with the work which occupied her before her secret marriage on St. Valentine's Day.

Mrs. Tufts, who was Mrs. Alice I. Wain, of Lewis st., Lynn, was a divorcee. Her mother has denied that the bridegroom left Lynn but said that he and his bride were planning a honeymoon trip to Florida.

The groom's father, Herbert E. Tufts, declares his son has left with his mother as the other passenger, and the bride left behind because there was no room for her.

The couple were married on St. Valentine's Day by Benjamin E. Waitte, a justice of the peace in Lynn, after securing a waiver of the five-day law.

The news of their marriage did not become public until fellow operators at the Lynn exchange noticed the wedding ring on the girl's finger.

Saturday, the bridegroom, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Herbert E. Tufts, packed up his baggage, kissed his bride of one day's standing goodby, headed for the sunny South, his father says.

MOTHER HIS NURSE

The bridegroom has been ill for several weeks, and has had two operations for a serious neck infection. His mother has been nursing him for some time, explained the elder Tufts.

The doctor in attendance several days ago ordered him to go South, for his health. "And since his mother has been nursing him," the father said, "she had to go along, too."

Asked why there wasn't room for the bride on the honeymoon trip, Tufts, senior, declared that the car is a small one only with seats for two. "And the mother had to go, so the bride couldn't."

FAMILIES APPROVED

The father denied that the marriage was secret as far as the families of both were concerned. "We knew about it," he said, "and we approved of it. We are very happy about it."

At the bride's former home a woman, who said she was Mrs. Alice I. Wain, the bride's mother, denied that Tufts had left town.

The bridegroom [illegible] in Lynn, she said. "Stories that he has left are not true. They are going South, but the bride is going with him. That won't be for a few days."

Mrs. Tufts, the bride, admitted that her husband and his mother were en route to the South together, and stated that she could see "nothing to fuss about because she did not go along."

She said she is very happy, and will continue her work until her husband returns, after four or five weeks.

She said she was not certain as to whether they would take a honeymoon trip on his return.

Councillor Wilson Hailed as Next Mayor

As the "next mayor of Boston," City Councillor Robert Gardiner Wilson, Jr., of Dorchester, Republican member of the city government for the past four years, was feted at the Elks Hotel by the Ward 17 Associates, composed exclusively of Democrats, who arranged the special victory reception and banquet in his honor.

The boom of Wilson for mayor was launched by Toastmaster Henry Keough. In behalf of Mayor Curley, who was detained at home by the illness of Mrs. Curley, Arthur B. Corbett, confidential mayoral secretary, paid tribute to the public service of the Dorchester councillor since 1926.

Mayflower, Racer, Way Down, but She Isn't Out

Frank Joyce, assistant vice-president and publicity director of the Boston & Maine Railroad, is on his vacation, cruising the West Indies.

He was surprised to find at Christobal the old schooner Mayflower, once a smart contestant in the International Fishermen's races off Gloucester and Nova Scotia.

The schooner, Frank wrote to a friend on the Boston Evening American, is now in packet service in the Caribbean.

"She's still a smart-looking boat," said Joyce in his communication.

Don't let SORE THROAT get the best of you . . .

FIVE minutes after you rub on Musterole your throat should begin to feel less sore. Continue the treatment once every hour for five hours and you'll be astonished at the relief.

Working like the trained hands of a masseur, this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. DR. CONRAD ASKS PROBE OF 'RAILROADING' THE SANE TO ASYLUMS

Attorney Jarvis Says Doctors Aid Designing Relatives in Plots to Get Property

A plea for the appointment of a special commission to investigate the laws relating to the commitment of insane persons was made today by Rev. A. Z. Conrad of the Park Street Church, who headed a delegation to the State House.

He told a legislative committee that he has had extraordinary experience in court connection with insane cases and believed it would not be difficult to get any person in the state committed to an institution for the insane.

[illegible] make an investigation into this matter [illegible] "Where [illegible] there is often an ulterior motive for the commitment."

PROPERTY A MOTIVE

Atty. Henry Jarvis, treasurer of the Massachusetts Society for the Protection of the Insane, said that he could cite case after case where persons have been committed through the activity of designing relatives in order to get possession of property.

He quoted Judge Long, retired, of Springfield, as authority for the statement that there are many cases where persons have been committed who should not have been.

All that is necessary to put a person away, he continued, is the certification of insanity by two practicing physicians. He charged that there are many dishonest doctors who do not hesitate to [illegible] such certification whether true or not.

QUOTES COMMISSIONER

Jarvis quoted Commissioner of Mental Diseases George M. Kline to the effect that there are 1000 persons confined in Massachusetts at the present time who could be released if someone could be found to assume responsibility for them.

"I say that these 1000 persons should never have been admitted," Jarvis said. "They are not harmfully inclined and should have been cared for by the cities and towns."

He declared that it was a difficult matter to get a person out of an institution once he had been committed.

Among other speakers in favor of the probe were the Rev. Robert Watson, executive secretary of the Lord's Day League; John C. Gordon of Somerville, and Mrs. Susan E. Stevens of Malden, representing the Order of Patriotic Dames, Inc.

BOY SAILORS GIVEN FLAG

In a brief ceremony in the Hall of Flags, Governor Allen today presented a state flag to the officers and men of the Massachusetts Nautical school, on behalf of the school alumni.

At the ceremony was a detachment of the school's cadets, members of the board of trustees of the school, Capt. Armistead Rust, school commander, and Adj.-Gen. Jesse F. Stevens.

In presenting the flag the Governor said in part:

"May this banner serve [illegible] constant reminder to the men of the Massachusetts Nautical school of the best traditions of our ancient Commonwealth, and inspire them to renewed determination, that the principles and ideals which have been exemplified by your officers and men in the past may continue to actuate them in the future."

The chief executive then praised the officers and men and revealed that he had a deep interest in the school.

Recount Thursday in Swampscott Tie

A recount will be held Thursday in an effort to break the tie vote which for the first time in the history of a town election in Swampscott deadlocked two candidates running for the board of selectmen.

In the [illegible] town election [illegible] votes, Harry E. Hardy, former building inspector seeking election for the first time to the board of selectmen, finished in first place with a total of 1036 votes. Howard K. Glidden, a present member of the board, was second with 1020 votes.

Nathan G. Bowen, a prominent business man of the town, finished in a tie for third place with F. Wyer Green, present member of the board, each candidate receiving 842 votes.

Daniel F. Knowlton, present member of the board seeking re-election, went down to defeat, finishing in fifth place with 791 votes. The turnover was a surprise, although veterans predicted a change.

Until the recount is over, the present board of selectmen will handle all town business.

Stork Brings 'Sonny' One Real Live 'Pal'

"Sonny," the terror of Westville st., Dorchester, has a new kid to maul, but this one is all his very own. A new baby brother came to Sonny's home early today and the speedy acquisition of possessions puzzled Sonny a bit, for only last night his dad took him home a coal-black doll presented by a German sailor.

Being a non-smoker of cigars, Al Whelton, water-front sleuth for the Boston Evening American and proud father of Sonny and his new brother, remained at home today to study the situation.

Until the status of Sergt. John F. Montague, deceased Boston policeman, is determined under the retirement law, the legislative committee on pensions will hold up a bill filed by Senator Joseph J. Mulhern calling for an annuity of $1000 to the widow.

Sergt. Montague died following the taking of a civil service examination.

"It Controls the Nerves"

"I am a saleslady in a store. My nerves got the best of me and I never had good finger nails because I could not stop biting them off. My appetite was poor and I was always tired. One of my friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I know that it controls the nerves because I have no desire to bite my nails now, and they are long and well kept. My appetite is enormous and I feel like a new person. I have recommended your medicine to many girls with the same good results."—Ethel Fleetwood, [illegible] Street, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Corns

Stop Hurting Instantly

then Lift Right Off!

Drop "Freezone" on that aching corn. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift the corn right off with your fingers. You'll laugh, really! It is so easy and doesn't hurt one bit! Works like a charm, every time.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs only a few cents at any drug store and is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, and callouses. Try it!

Needless Pain!

The man who wouldn't drive his motorcar half a mile when it's out of order, will often drive his brain all day with a head that's throbbing.

Such punishment isn't very good for one's nerves! It's unwise, and it's unnecessary. A tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin will relieve a headache every time. So, remember this accepted antidote for pain, and spare yourself a lot of needless suffering. Read the proven directions and you'll discover many valuable uses for these tablets. For headaches; to check colds. To ease a sore throat and reduce the infection. For relieving neuralgic, neuritic, rheumatic pain.

People used to wonder if Bayer Aspirin was harmful. The doctors answered that question years ago. It is not. Some folks still wonder if it really does relieve pain. That's settled! For millions of men and women have found it does. To cure the cause of any pain you may consult your doctor; but you may always turn to Bayer Aspirin for immediate relief.

MORE than a generation ago two clever craftsmen, Messrs. Gilbert and Sullivan found glory and profit in the [illegible] of deep blue sea and the restless adventurers that sail its troubled waters. [illegible] newer artificers of the theater, Messrs. Schwab and Mandel, with the contribution [illegible]

[illegible] crowded with more [illegible] I find from [illegible] picturesque and throbbing [illegible] then at a stand in the Carib [illegible] tradesmen of the French regime, with lovely [illegible] of New Orleans in their [illegible] the picture.

THERE are [illegible] mariners [illegible] and bondsmen; a captured ship and a new colony on a hidden island. Out of all this rises the glowing warmth of [illegible] as you like to believe really exists. Romberg wrote a score that was surely meant to be sung by just the voices you hear at the Shubert. The story [illegible] trifling usually seen a custom [illegible] in this instance, just another example of the beauty of words and music when the fabrication is done by masters at the trade.

[illegible] narrative, you find pleasure and thrill in a personnel of faultless balance. Evelyn Herbert makes graceful work of a role which demands talent in acting, vocal quality and poise. Reluctantly her audience permits the show to go on after she has sung "Lover Come Back To Me." Robert Halliday, a mighty lad in voice and action, gives full expression to his powers in both song and his love for a lady. Others who make the performance a thing to be first cheered and then remembered are Marie Callahan, petite and whimsical, also a roistering tomboy; William O'Neal, the principal comic, and Esther Howard, a useful playmate for any hard-pressed fun maker.

AS long as the theater can find tenants like "The New Moon" to occupy its stage, the path to the box office will be well trod. For here is the most inspiring and useful musical entertainment since "Rose Marie."

Continuing Shows

PLYMOUTH—"Little Accident," a domestic comedy, tinged with farce. Thomas Mitchell acts the principal role.

ONE would hardly [illegible] the thought of Lo[illegible] homely yet [illegible] actor with Louis Wolheim [illegible] professor of [illegible] Yet the two are [illegible] star though far [illegible] matter of time. Knowing [illegible] may properly lay his theoretical [illegible] logically reason out why [illegible] "The Ship From Shanghai" [illegible] Loew's State falls precisely [illegible] wholly from the actor's [illegible] point to this [illegible] Mr. Wolheim. We have [illegible] individual did better acting [illegible] never [illegible] flagrant a manner just [illegible] the picture [illegible] At his side [illegible] Ivan [illegible] [illegible] English but [illegible] both we can read the cunning brain of Charles Brabin the director. The film, for the most part, is very interesting but strangely enough is lifted high by its villians and not by the hero strain, so far as the dramatics go.

THE story deals with the experiences of a "bunch of toffs" on a yacht voyaging east ward from Shanghai. There is a newsreel introduction to give us the Shanghai local color; then the synthetic matter of a cafe, with its gay life to introduce the swankiness of the nothing-to-do till tomorrow [illegible] At sea there [illegible] a mutiny [illegible] Here is the chance to bring out the elements of a man's nature and he [illegible] his hand at [illegible] the crew, and not the gay seafarers, who hold [illegible] of the screen [illegible] sequence [illegible] the finest [illegible] we have seen of the kind [illegible] motion picture may be explained in part by the presence of Mr. Brabin, and in part by the [illegible] real goods. While the ordinary "shots" were being made at sea, off California, a sou'wester blew along, bringing its godsend of graphic incident to the film ship. From all angles the director had his cameramen do their work, and the result is a masterly portrayal with a vividness that Hollywood could never reproduce.

AS the dominant figure below decks Mr. Wolheim is superb. He is the steward, Mr. Linow the cook. The former turns chief mutineer; then grows madder and madder in the power that comes to him as the ship drifts helplessly. Kay Johnson is only so-so until a scene alone with the ringleader, toward the finish; then she is superfine. That is the one big moment of any of the cast outside the two ugly mutineers. Conrad Nagel, Holmes Herbert and Carmel Myers fail to rise to any heights, though M[illegible]

WORRIES took wing. The ills that flesh is heir to got the air and that to the queen's taste. The atmosphere at the Majestic was mirth-laden with gorgeous song, with laughter evoked by fine comedy, with [illegible] continued applause. For [illegible] the night of the revival of Robin Hood [illegible] masterpiece [illegible] presented in Boston almost 40 years ago. It was a triumph in every sense of the word.

Time has not dulled a single [illegible] of this sterling production. It has more song hits than anything that has succeeded it [illegible] made more classy whoopee [illegible] Sherwood Forest on stage [illegible] night than one is wont to [illegible] more recent offerings. [illegible] orchestra [illegible] up to par. The result was a Robin Hood that had no [illegible] flaw. Sitting in a box was Eugene Cowles, great bar[illegible] of another [illegible] creator of the role of Will Scarlet. If everybody else was enthusiastic [illegible] seemed to be having the big [illegible] of his life. And when it was over he paid producers and participants the high tribute of [illegible] Splendid in every way and worthy of the De Koven [illegible]

[illegible] the spirit and text the [illegible] the equal of the [illegible] [illegible] comedy was most [illegible] but the fun flowed [illegible] from the [illegible] wooded haunt of the Merry Men.

[illegible] it was a treat to hear "Brown October Ale" sung by Greek Evans, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera Co. He was [illegible] voice, and this one number alone was worth going miles [illegible] But there were many [illegible] singing of Lorna Doone Jackson [illegible] grand opera [illegible] of Charles E. Galagher as Will Scarlet [illegible] of the beauteous and fascinating Olga Steck as Maid Marian, of the veteran William Danforth as the Sheriff was up to the best traditions of the stage. Both Miss Steck and Miss Jackson came in for an especially warm reception.

Why name those song hits? There are 19 of them each and [illegible] "Robin Hood" is golden, it still has amazing power to entertain. Its equal in its class just doesn't exist.

MISCHIEF ON GAYETY BILL

"THE MISCHIEF MAKERS," with two big scenes, one a Japanese garden and the other [illegible] "A Day at College," [illegible] at the Gayety and went over with the audience [illegible] manner. Harry Meyers and Milt Franfort handled their situations in deft manner and proved that they could keep fun bubbling out all the time. Margie Vey not only sang a series of special blue songs, but offered some specialty dances.

The cast included Lucille Car[illegible], Virginia Lee, Babe Harris, George Reynolds, Chuck Morrison and Eddie Innes. Their work was of high order.

A special midnight performance will be given Friday night as part of a pre-Washington's Birthday celebration. It will begin at 11 45 and will be loaded with appropriate specialties. [illegible] Gayety jazz orchestra will offer some special numbers.

'GHOST TRAIN' FILLED WITH TERROR

SO popular did the "Ghost Train" prove when it was first produced by the Copley players three season ago, that it has since been an important contribution to each winter's repertoire. The play, in its opening performance of the 1930 revival last evening, was as excellently presented as ever. Again it showed it has lost none of its allure of mystery nor its comedy kick.

The "Ghost Train" owes much of its charm and vivid appeal to the well-rounded acting of the Copley group. The play itself, however, has a baffling plot. It deals with the harrowing experiences of a group of strangers stranded for the night in a haunted railway station. The dauntless Mr. Clive, as the witless practical joker of the group, carries off first honors in acting and also eventually saves his fellow travelers. The effectiveness of the play never drops below the high pace set for it in the opening scene and the onlooker is left at the end with a feeling of satisfaction over the way the play and the players have acquitted themselves.

Rosalind Russell as Julia Price gives a vivid portrayal of a nervous girl, mentally upset at times by her strange obsession. The acting of Elspeth Dudgeon is delightful as always. She with Ralph Roberts and Richard Whorf, also giving excellent performances, and Mr. Clive, are the only members of the cast who have performed in the play in the past.

The other members are all new to their parts but turned in good characterization. Ian Emery and Esther Mitchell, as well as Peggy Bent, deserve special commendation.

Cabaret Entertainers Add to Bowdoin Bill

Lew Orth and his cabaret entertainers will put forth a bill of song and dance features tomorrow night at the Bowdoin Square Theater. "Cabaret Night" is now a fixed feature every Wednesday night at the Bowdoin.

ANIMAL LIFE IS CRAMMED INTO FILM

ALL the grandeur of the jungle, all the terror of the African bush, and the courage of a mongrel dog, are blended to make "Jango" one of the most remarkable films ever shown in Boston. "Jango" has more thrills than most photoplays.

The picture is being personally presented at Tremont Temple by Dr. Daniel Davenport, who filmed most of it, and the only white survivor of a party of three scientists who penetrated the Congo.

Secrets long hidden from the eyes of the white man are revealed by the camera studies of this five-year expedition.

The cur dog, named "Nigger," made his debut before an enthusiastic audience last night, wagging his tail as hearty applause for his valor greeted him and two native cannibals brought back by Dr. Davenport.

Times without number "Nigger" tackled big game in the bush with courage that set pulses throbbing. Nothing stopped him, for the dog not only climbed a tree and dislodged a leopard for the pack, but routed seven sleeping hippopotamuses, cutting two out of the group for his master's gun fodder.

Dr. Davenport paid high tribute to the loyalty and devotion of his two cannibal body servants who carried him 100 miles after he had been bitten by a cobra, ministering to him until he was well again.

One of the interesting features of the film is a meeting between Dr. Davenport's expedition and that headed by P. R. L. "Pat" Putnam, Harvard explorer and one of the Boston Putnams.

Throughout the picture the shadow of swift death moves, and one is not unprepared for the tragedy which finally overtakes Dr. Neuman, noted Belgian explorer, who was gored to death by a rhino.

This event, deleted by censors, ended the expedition [illegible] caused Dr. Davenport to [illegible] to civilization. He will go to Africa next August and [illegible] proceeds of his American appearances are to finance that expedition.

U.S.L.T.A. Will Use Mail to Settle Important Questions

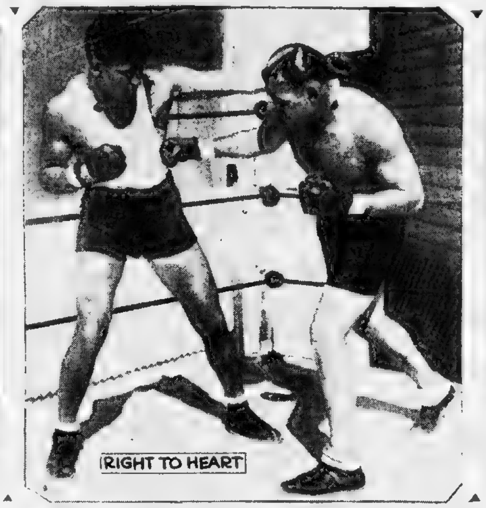

JACK SHARKEY, IN EXCLUSIVE PHOTOS, SHOWS HOW HE WILL K. O. SCOTT AT MIAMI, FEB. 27

Johnny Grosso — Jack Sharkey

[illegible]e, two, three! There may be a few more punches struck, but Jack Sharkey, posing [wit]h a sparring partner, Johnny Grosso, shows in these exclusive International [Ne]wsreel photos, just how he will K. O. Phil Scott at Miami next week to win the [wo]rld heavyweight title. With Scott against the ropes, Jack will shoot a left to the [ch]in. Scott will shake his whiskers and try to counter. Then ——

RIGHT TO HEART

Johnny Grosso — Jack Sharkey

Sharkey will step in, dodging Scott's left, and send a terrific right to the Britisher's heart. Things will begin to grow dark for Phil. His head swimming from the first jolt, his body wracked by the stab of the second, the stage will be all set for the finish. With all his steam behind it, Jack will shoot his right again ——

KNOCKOUT

Johnny Grosso — Jack Sharkey

The dazed Scott will hear the shouts of the howling mob, the shrieks for a knockout. Sharkey's glove will speed like a bullet. The crowd will hear the crack as the blow lands on Phil's jaw. Phil won't feel the impact. He'll feel himself falling into a deep pit. The sound like rushing waters will assail his ears. Later, he'll mumble a few words as Sharkey shakes his hand.

Tennis Committee to Vote by Mail

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—Thanks to the U. S. mail, the United States Lawn Tennis Association will be a truly national organization throughout 1930, says its newly-elected president, Louis B. Dailey.

Largely th[rough] M[r.] D[ailey's ef]forts a provision w[as adopted] [by] the association at St. Louis which permits a mail vote. Its effects he believes, will be far reaching and the association no longer will be accused of being dominated by a New York or Eastern seaboard group.

"In previous years when a matter of importance arose," he pointed out, "the entire committee, of course, was summoned, but at the meeting there would be six or seven members present from New York, a couple from Philadelphia, a couple from Boston and maybe [o]ne from Washington.

"As long as I am president every matter of importance will be referred to a mail vote and every committee member throughout the country will have a chance to express an opinion."

On another point of policy Mr. Dailey was emphatic.

The three-man Davis Cup committee, as well as the Wightman Cup committee will have complete authority in its own sphere.

Not even the president himself will interfere with their authority over questions of team selection but either committee may call [illegible] clude "Big Bill" Tilden, "Little Bill" Johnston, Frank Hunter and Dick Williams, for advice.

President Dailey was born in Dayton, Ky., June 23, 1874, played football and tennis at Washburn College, Kansas, during a brief three months period, then left to join a surveying expedition into Arizona, later blossoming out as a real estate man in New York.

He is ambidextrous, having played baseball and tennis with both right and left hands in his younger days. He has four sons, all of whom, he said proudly, "are over six feet tall."

"One of them, Louis Jr.," he added, "once reached the third round at Wimbledon and gave Jean Borotra a good battle before he was eliminated."

Hansen in Serious Condition After Match

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 18 (AP)—Injured in a wrestling bout here last night with Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former world's champion, Charley Hansen, Seattle, was taken to a hospital. He was in a serious condition, doctors said, suffering from convulsions. Lewis won the match.

During the early part of the sixth round Lewis landed a terrific "rabbit punch" and Hansen dropped to his knees. He came up dazed and Lewis clamped on a headlock. After having been thrown to the mat Hansen was seized with convulsions and was unable to finish the match.

Physicians at the hospital said that although he appeared to be badly injured he would recover.

Fighters Authors

Books written by Georges Carpentier, Jim Driscoll, Jimmy Wilde and Gunner Moir, heroes of another day in the boxing game, have a wide sale throughout Europe.

Carey Denies Big Fight Postponed

Miami, Fla., Feb. 17 (AP)—Reports of possible postponement of the proposed fight between Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott here Feb. 27, due to injury of Scott's right hand, were declared without foundation by William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden Corporation.

The reports gained some circulation after it was learned that Scott, who took today off from training, visited a physician.

Crimson Swimmers in B. S. A. Title Meet

Harvard swimmers may furnish the fireworks in the ninth anniversary meet of the Boston Swimming Association, to be held in the Boston Y. M. C. A. tank Saturday evening.

Coach Harold Ulen of the Crimson has entered four speedy performers in the meet. [They] are William DeLima and Benton Woods, who will compete in the National A. A. U. junior 500-yard free style swim; Robert Fallon, who will battle in the New England A. A. A. U. 50-yard free style title event, and Thomas Jamesson, who will be seen in the 100-yard handicap race. Woods is also entered for the New England title 50-yard swim.

Report Horton Smith to Join Pro Ranks

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—Horton Smith, spectacular shot-maker from Joplin, Mo., may become golf pro at the new Cragston Yacht and Country Club now under construction on the J. Pierpont Morgan estate, near West Point. Reports are current that directors of the club have been negotiating with Smith for some time.

DALEY DEFEATS SPRINT STAR

N[ew] Y[ork], [Feb.] 18 [illegible] Daley, Holy Cross sprint star, finished a yard ahead of George Simpson of Ohio State, recognized world['s] fastest [illegible] [in] the [illegible] dash at the N. Y. Athletic Club games at Madison Square Garden.

Alex Schering of Columbia University was third and Frank Hussey, New York A. C. veteran, fourth.

The time was 6 3-5 seconds as compared to the record 6 1-5.

Simpson and Daley won their qualifying heats previously in 6 3-5.

Phil Edwards, Canadian Olympic [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the half mile. The time was 1:51 5.

In the two mile relay the University of Penn scored four defeating Yale and Columbia in 8:08 3-5. Kerr, Coan, Montgomery and McKniff the Penn team, won by a quarter of a lap. Yale was second, ahead of Columbia.

Ray Conger, Illinois A. C. flyer, hung up his fifth one-mile victory when he outran Joe Hickey of N. Y. U., Eastern intercollegiate indoor champion, and Gene Venzke, Swedish-American A. C. runner from Philadelphia, 4:19 3-5 in the Baxter tale.

Conger also captured the honors in a phantom race with Leo Lermond of the Boston A. A., who is now in Australia. He had to beat Lermond's mark of 4:21 4-5 to capture the cup at stake.

Holy Cross turned in the best mile relay time of the indoor season thus far when Klumbach, Holland, Moran and McCafferty covered the route in 3:23 3-5 to beat Georgetown by five yards.

Charlie Engle of Yale broke the tape a yard ahead of Ed Blake of the B. A. A. in the [illegible] [illegible] New York [illegible] [illegible] 40-yard [illegible]

Tommy Warne of Northwestern University outjumped Barney Berlinger of the University of Penn and Fred Sturdy, former Yale star, in the pole vault. Warne cleared 13 feet 6 inches to beat Berlinger by half a foot. Sturdy could do no better than 12 feet 6 inches.

O'Brien and Van in Billiards Final

Arthur O'Brien qualified for the finals in the New England Class B Three Cushion Billiard Championship when he defeated Eliot Mann of Brookline 25 to 23. This was O'Brien's fourth straight victory. Frank Van of Dorchester also qualified for the finals when he came through with his fourth straight win by beating Nat Rabin, 25 to 14.

Allen K. O.'s Big Boy Rawson in 55 Secs.

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

HARRY ALLEN of Brockton continued his climb along the title trail by knocking out Big Boy Rawson in the feature bout of the Arena A. C. show in 55 seconds.

The minute the gong sounded for the opening round, Allen rushed out to meet his foe [with] a terrific right to the side of the jaw. Rawson went back about two feet before he was able to realize what happened. Allen then threw another right to the head and Rawson went to his knees but bounded back on his feet without a count.

A third right to the head and then a left found Rawson staggering about the ring. Allen let fly another right and Rawson went down flat on his back.

Rawson never landed a punch before he was counted out.

[illegible] Rawson [illegible] knockout in his last two starts.

The semifinal attraction which brought together Tom McNeeley of Cambridge and Dan Regan of Gardner was another short bout. Regan knocked out McNeeley in one minute, 55 seconds.

Shortly after the gong started the boys off, Regan rushed McNeeley to the ropes, slashing with lefts and rights to the head and body. Regan connected often in the short time and once sent McNeeley down for a count of nine.

On getting up, McNeeley backed away. Regan again nailed McNeeley and let go with a barrage of leather and the heavyweight from Cambridge, bleeding from the nose and mouth, went crashing through the ropes. This was enough and as he attempted to crawl back he was counted out.

Jim O'Neil of Cambridge won the opening four-rounder, defeating Bill Gonyla of Worcester. Tony Sallesa of Watertown was awarded the verdict in his bout with Tony Caprio of Providence. The latter failed to fight, and Referee Jerry Moore gave the verdict to Sallesa in the second frame.

Young Jack Dempsey of the North End won his four rounder from Pete Heiman of Roxbury in a match filled with action. The other four-rounder found Joe O'Donnell of Roxbury taking the measure of Sammy Mango of Dorchester. O'Donnell floored Mango in the second round but Mango weathered the final two frames.

Jerry Brandt, Medford, substituting for Jack Dowd of Weymouth against Pat Perkins of South Boston, won on a foul in the second round. Perkins, who was [illegible] [illegible] took when he went low and sent Brandt up on the canvas.

Leslie Baker of Watertown added another victory to his long string by trouncing Arthur Sullivan of Weymouth. Baker cut Sullivan over the eye and Dr. John Connor had Sullivan surrender, giving Baker a technical knockout after three rounds. The bout was scheduled for four rounds.

Geo. Slosson of Hub Will Try Comeback

Chicago, Feb. 18 (AP)—The proposed return of 66-year-old George Sutler Sutton to championship billiard competition has inspired George F. Slosson of Boston, who won the world 18.2 balkline title in 1906, to come out of retirement.

Learning that Sutton was being considered as an entrant in the next big tournament, Slosson, 76 years old, has written to the National Billiard Association of America asking that he be matched with Sutton.

Carnera Has Won Six Fights by Knockouts

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—All of Primo Carnera's half-dozen fights in this country have ended in knockouts. Briefly, this is the way the Italian giant has bowled them over:

Knocked out Big Boy Peterson at New York, first round.

Knocked out Elzear Rioux at Chicago, one round.

Knocked out Cowboy Owens at Newark, N. J., second round.

Knocked out Buster Martin at St. Louis, second round.

Knocked out Big Jim Sigman at Memphis, first round.

Knocked out John O. Erickson at Oklahoma City, second round.

They have staged some wild battles in the past and there is always the possibility of a few fights being put on as extra and unadvertised attractions whenever these clubs meet.

Although the result of [illegible] night's tilt cannot affect the Bruins' standing other than to postpone temporarily the establishment of a new points scored record, the Maroons are going to face the stiffest brand of hockey they have met this season.

The Montreal outfit is the only team which has defeated the Bruins here this season. Naturally, that upset does not sit well with the Bruins, but a victory this evening will also give the Boston team a three to one edge in the Maroons series.

The Bruins took the Maroons into camp in both games played in the Forum but fell before the Big Red team at the Garden late in November.

The bonuses go to the teams who finish first in their respective divisions and for this reason the Bruins would like nothing better than to see the Maroons eased out of the lead by Les Canadiens. CRITTENTON HEAD SCORES WRITERS

Speakers and writers who, from platform and in magazine, have been discussing sex questions in a way which he considers produces wrong ideas in the minds of youths were scored by Robert S. Barrett of Alexandria, Va., president of the National Florence Crittenton Mission at a luncheon conference of the Massachusetts league at the Hotel Statler.

Telling of the thousands of girls who come for assistance to the Crittenton homes during the year, he spoke of them as "not criminals, but children, poor, ignorant, undernourished, untrained, unmoral, the victims of ignorance and selfishness on the part of parents."

Bishop Slattery introduced the speaker in a brief address, in which he spoke of modern social conditions among young people over which parents have no control.

Miss Helen Fowler, superintendent of the Florence Crittenton Home, told of the work done there. Mrs. Marjorie P. Sanderson reported as to the number of girls who have been cared for in the past year.

Mrs. Mary Ramsdell described the care given girls at Welcome House and Miss Alice Gwendoline Albee reported as secretary.

Dr. Howard S. Chidley presided over the meeting. Among those attending as guests of honor were Meadames Hugh Bancroft, George R. Fearing, Everett O. Fisk, Willard T. Tilson and C. Peter Clark, the Rev. Peter A. Dunne, the Rev. Carl N. Gates, the Rev. David N. Beach, who offered prayer; Dr. Foster Kellogg and Clarence R. Prescott.

Puts New Life Into Dull, Tired, Faded Skin

This Modern World

Edited by AIN ARDEN

A Department Devoted to Fashions, Decoration and Social Customs

New Straws Use the Brim to Achieve Feminine Effect For Spring and Summer

If you can't make up your mind this early about a new spring bonnet, why not settle the problem by drawing straws? And don't stop at one straw as has been your conservative habit in the past several springs, but go into the thing on a grand scale—for you see straw hats are in the lead for first fashion favor once again. Even the indispensable felt is rumored to be taking second place.

These new straws that you draw won't determine your further purchases by their lengths but rather by the width of their brims. If you draw a medium brim, you will immediately have to set forth in search of a dashing costume for less formal occasions with which to wear it. If you should draw a wide brim, you may indulge in one of those delightfully quaint and wholly feminine frocks which are making the mode a gracious lady.

And width of brim will increase as the season advances. Late news from the Paris openings stresses the wide brimmed hat for late spring and summer, predicted to grow to enormous proportions for beach and mid-summer wearing.

THE wide brimmed hat pictured has many points of interest—it is new, flattering, youthful and adaptable to a variety of costumes and occasions. It is a Mado design, of Chauve Soie, a fine black straw, faced in linen, pale beige color, the linen forming fan-like group of pleats in the back, the straw upper brim being cut away over the pleats. A band and back bow of the linen finish the crown.

The brim is shallow in front, wide at sides and back—and the hat worn well off the forehead. The accompanying blouse of crepe with wide frill, and two strand pearl necklace, seem fitting adjuncts to this very feminine style of hat.

The smaller hat shown is a felt cloche, copied from an Agnes design. It is of green, almost aquamarine in tone, with under brim facing, perky bow and Ascot scarf, all of pongee, matching the green felt. This hat is also worn off the forehead.

Hats faced with Shantung and linen are particularly smart and new this season, while green is a leader in spring colors.

YOU are entitled to your own ideas about wearing your heart on your sleeve. But on your bonnet you should wear a bow this spring! It is not the loop and knot detail itself that means so much. It is what the bow does for the new hat that really matters.

A little bow in a high place may be justifying its existence by holding a brim off the forehead, in the most approved 1930 manner.

THIS is the "little fashion season" that we are in—the accessory interlude, as it were. And smartness is managed now by brightening familiar ensembles with new scarfs, bags, gloves and things.

There's purpose in choosing in pairs, for matched accessories make the costume appear more carefully considered—and accessory ensembles of two or more pieces are fashionably important as well.

Model by L. P. Hollander Co.

SINCE we are going back to the Napoleonic era for so many of our more ladylike fashions, it is interesting to find that even some of our sport styles have their inspiration from that period. Romer uses provencal patterns that even Napoleon approved to make gay kerchiefs for resort and summer wear. They employ the same old wood-blocks that were used in the time of that gentleman. The same colors, too, that took the eye of the gaily caparisoned general and his soldiers are employed for these bright, attractive accessories.

4TH CONCERT BY SYMPHONY COLORFUL

By MOSES SMITH

From the standpoint of the average concert-goer, the program of the fourth Monday evening concert of the Boston Symphony Orchestra was excellent. To begin the proceedings there was Mozart's Serenade, "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik," a symphonic masterpiece in miniature. How delightfully fresh this music is a century and a half after Mozart wrote it. And what an exquisite performance it was given by the virtuoso strings of the local orchestra under Serge Koussevitzky!

Yet this was but a prelude to a brilliant performance of "Till Eulenspiegel," Strauss' masterful tone-poem, which wears its age very well and still thrills most listeners. The playing of the strings here was even more remarkable than it had been when they were heard alone in the Mozart music. And the other choirs—brass, woodwind and percussion—seemed to be a collection of noted soloists. Aiding and aided by this sounding orchestra, Mr. Koussevitzky gave a reading of such inspiration as to place him among the great Strauss interpreters.

For unusual occurrence, the Monday night audience was introduced to a novelty that had not been heard previously at the regular Symphony concerts, or in Boston at all. Honegger's Concerto for Violoncello and Orchestra, in which Maurice Marechal was the soloist, was composed a year ago. It contains a single movement of three sections, which, the composer carefully explains, are in classical form.

Idiomatically, the music is a mixture of many styles—classic, ultra-modern, and even romantic. M. Marechal, to whom the work is dedicated, gave a performance of great virtuosity. Since his interpretation must meet with Honegger's approval, it is not unfair to express our utter boredom with the piece.

Dvorak's "New World" Symphony was thrilling performed as the last number. The audience was very enthusiastic.

Bob Quinn Adds Two Youngsters to Red Sox Roster

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

INFIELDER AND PITCHER TO GO SOUTH

By JOE CASHMAN

THE Red Sox roster was increased from 37 to 39, today by the acquisition of Frank Kritcher, a pitcher, and Carl Vachall, an infielder.

Kritcher a product of Car[illegible] school at McConnellsburg, Pa, was recommended by Maj Denney Sullivan, former Red Sox outfielder. Scout Steve O'Rourke picked up Vachall on an Omaha, Neb. sandlot.

The announcement of the acquisition of two youngsters of this caliber by a big league team isn't very interesting news ordinarily. This one by Secretary Hy Mason is, however, because it shows to what lengths Bob Quinn will go in his efforts to give Hub fans a winning club.

THE Sox are not in need of first-class pitchers. They have five of the best hurlers in the league, and two or three very promising young second-string box artists. There is no great need of the club taking more than a dozen mound candidates, at the most, to the Pensacola training camp.

Yet Quinn, rather than let it be said that he left a single stone unturned to produce a winner, adds a youngster who has never pitched pro ball, to a group numbering eighteen.

The Sox are not so well off for infield material, but it is a remote probability that the acquisition of Vachall will make them richer in this respect.

It is a long chance that either of these boys will make the grade. Quinn is probably throwing away $1000 or more by taking them South, and he of all the big league magnates can least afford it.

He has spent several fortunes during his six seasons in the Hub trying to build a winning ball club and all he has received for his trouble has been a string of last-place outfits.

He would need two or three world's championship clubs to put him back on the right side of the ledger. He ought to be discouraged. Instead, he is still willing to spend thousands for players who have any kind of a chance of succeeding rather than run the risk of losing a star.

Such efforts ought to be appreciated. But they aren't.

THE Braves won't announce the signing of contracts by players, but a few of Judge Fuchs' men must be expected in camp at St. Pete, for bright and early today, trunks holding uniforms and equipment were shipped from the Wigwam so that everything will be in readiness when the Tribal advance guard reaches the Sunshine City next Monday.

MANAGER McKECHNIE of the Braves is still on the trail of a good catcher. There aren't any available now, apparently, but there is plenty of talk about trades involving certain Cubs, Giants, Pirates and Dodgers, who are holdouts, and before the storm blows over, the Tribe may land the receiver they need so badly.

ITALIAN HEAVY KNOCKED OUT

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 17 (AP)—Sevrino Brogliotti, heavyweight, of Italy, was beaten in one round by Martin Levandowski, Grand Rapids, in one of the few bouts lost by the visiting foreign amateurs in international contests here tonight.

The Italian's seconds threw a towel into the ring at the end of the first round, thereby giving the American a technical knockout.

Another visiting heavyweight, Kurt Figge of Germany, lost a decision by a narrow margin to Everett Semeyn of Grand Rapids.

Other results were: Oddone Piazza of Italy, middleweight, outpointed Buck Kammen, Grand Rapids. Albert Leidman of Germany, middleweight, defeated Chet Talaszek, Grand Rapids.

Jones Entered in Savannah Tourney

Atlanta, Feb. 18 (AP)—Bobby Jones, national open golf champion, announced here today that he would enter the three-day, 72-hole open golf tournament starting at Savannah Thursday.

With the exception of a few practice rounds, Jones has not competed in tournament play since the national amateur championship in California last summer. He recently equalled his own course record of [illegible] over the East Lake course here. The figure was nine under par.

BRUIN STARS READY FOR MAROON ATTACK

A record crowd will see the Bruins, American champions, battle Montreal Maroons at the Garden tonight. Hitchman and Clapper, Bruin aces, are all set to play their best game of the season.

SCHOOL TRACK STARS ACTIVE

One of the outstanding schoolboy track duels of the year should result when Worcester Academy and Huntington School, the teams to finish first and second, respectively, in the recent B. A. A. Interscholastic Track Meet, face each other in a dual meet in the "Y" gymnasium, tomorrow afternoon.

In four dual meets this year Brockton high is the only school to have a verdict over the Back Bay boys.

ENTRIES for the school track meet of Saturday continue to reach Larry Shields at Andover and the games will be the greatest run by the Phillips Academy. Several Boston schools are sending teams up for the competition in the Case memorial cage.

Fred L. O'Brien of East Boston will have Ernie Goglia in the hurdles. Goglia ran in the B. A. A. games, but he had had no chance to practice over the regulation height sticks, and so failed to place in his heat.

At Andover the graceful East Boston boy will have a better chance, and may cop a victory. Carrozza and Lanieri, two fast runners of the Noddle Island team, also will race in the Andover games.

Constantine Satchebell has been cleaning up in the spring affairs of the school meets. He won the Northeastern and Unicorn games short distance events, and will try to make it three in a row at Andover.

Denny Gildea sends his Everett relay team into action at the meet. The quartet has done surprisingly well in its first season on the boards, and can force David Prouty high all the way in the team battle.

Baseball gets underway at Fairhaven high next week. The sessions will be held indoors until the weather permits outdoor work.

Mel Entin will catch for the team. Entin can hit, has a good arm, and works the pitchers well. Johnny Gonsalves, great all-around athlete of Fairhaven, probably will be the first string pitcher. Gonsalves and Entin should make one of the best batteries of the state this spring.

Alec Downey's Somerville court team entertains Cambridge Latin at the new Somerville gym this afternoon. The home team has come along rapidly and may defeat the light Cantab five.

Joe Maturevitch, Joe Blair and Walter Plausky are playing well for the Cambridge team.

Mansfield high five goes to Stoughton today for a Hockamock Valley League game. Jim Kelly's Mansfield five are going ahead in high speed and intend to get a little better grip on the league championship with a win today.

Worcester Academy comes to the Huntington ave. Y. gym tomorrow afternoon for a dual track meet with the Huntington school. Worcester, after winning the B. A. A. games, will be confident. Huntington is strong, however, and will make it a scrap all the way.

Passing the Puck

By BILL GRIMES

UNLESS the Maroons start trouble, which is very unlikely, the fans who trek to the Garden tonight expecting to see a battle-royal are doomed to disappointment. Although the Bruins are, in some circles, still referred to as the Battling Bruins, they are playing and have been all season, as clean a brand of hockey as any team in the league.

In the past, the Bruins did resort to questionable tactics. This season, however, they have tended strictly to their knitting. Of course, hockey cannot be expected to be entirely free of objectionable features, and the Bruins have boiled over a few times. But, as a whole, they are a clean, hard playing outfit and through the elimination of rough house tactics, they have developed into the greatest of all time hockey clubs.

Babe Siebert will be ridden and ridden hard by the fans tonight. Babe is a spitfire in a hockey game but take away his skates and stick and he is as likeable a chap as anyone would care to meet.

The demand for tickets for the Bruins-Maroon game tonight has been so heavy that Walter Woolard wishes that he was back with Bill Brock. Compared to what he has gone through for a week, the tank towns look like Miami Beach to Walter.

There are still a few tickets for the Bruins-Rangers game to be played in New York still available at the Bruins' office. Fans who are planning to make the trip should be sure of their tickets for there will not be a chance in the world of being accommodated in New York.

George Owen missed being seriously injured in Fort Erie during the Pittsburgh game by a narrow margin. He crashed into a goal post at the end of a rush and was forced out of the game. George did not play against either Toronto or Detroit but he will be in action this evening.

FR. CORRIGAN HITS REPORT

Boston College's 1929 football team, comprising 35 letter men and coaches, were dined at the 22d annual banquet of 250 members of the Boston College Club of Cambridge in the Hotel Commander, Cambridge. Rev. Michael J. Ahern, S. J., and Rev. Jones I. J. Corrigan, S. J., were the principal speakers.

Fr. Corrigan declared the Carnegie report untrue, unfair and arbitrary. Answering the report on eligibility of athletes, Rev. Fr. Corrigan read the marks of Boston College's great athletes of the past 10 years.

Such men as Joe McKenney, Tom Scanlon, Luke Urban, Charlie Murphy, Pat Mahoney, Tom Cavanaugh and Jim Doyle, according to a list from the dean's office, showed averages of 70, 80 and even 90.

Rev. Charles Roddy, S. J., faculty moderator of athletics, paid a great tribute to Frank Reynolds, who for 10 years was graduate manager of athletics at the Heights. Rev. Fr. Roddy said that B. C.'s position today in the athletic world was due in great measure to Mr. Reynolds.

HARVARD GYM 'SANTA' STILL A MYSTERY

[illegible] at Harvard, returned to Cam[illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] back, when a Harvard alumnus gave his name [illegible] $[illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] at Harvard, received hundreds of [illegible] from [illegible] money order and every letter [illegible] reply from Bingham.

Lately, as the new gym began to show signs of completion, Bingham wrote to Alumnus Aquaticus informing him of the progress being made in constructing the new [illegible] pool.

The reply Bingham received read as follows:

"Dear Mr. Bingham:

"Your description of the Alumni [illegible] is very interesting, but let's get to our knitting, and have a new swimming pool.

"Alumnus Aquaticus."

When Bingham arrived in Los Angeles to speak at the Harvard Club there a note, written in long hand, was delivered to his hotel room informing the Crimson director that an interview with Mickey Riley could be obtained that afternoon at the Los Angeles A. C.

The note was signed in the familiar scrawl of Alumnus Aquaticus and for once Bingham confessed he was nonplussed. The upshot of the note, however, led to Bingham's securing Riley for the Harvard [illegible] fiesta.

Riley, a freshman at University of Southern California and [illegible] not be able to enter competition with other collegians swimming for [illegible] slap [illegible].

He will, however, give a special exhibition at the meet.

To get back to Bingham and the unknown Santa Claus, the Harvard director followed this interview by sending tickets for the meet to Alumnus Aquaticus through the latter's bank in Boston.

And to protect the modest donor, Bingham is having Carroll Getchell send several pairs of seats, so that no one will know whether or not the silent partner shows up or not.

Harvard officials are busy now on the problem of keeping Getchell from knowing what tickets he sends and if they can do this, the identity of Alumnus Aquaticus may never come to light.

SCHAAF SEEKS SPAR MATES

Ernie Schaaf, hard-hitting Hub sailor, has sent out an S. O. S. for sparring partners to help him prepare for his return ring conflict with K. O. Christner under the auspices of the Argonne A. A. at Mechanics Building Friday night.

Schaaf has been working with Big Boy Burlap and Rocky Knight, but neither of these have been able to allow Schaaf to cut loose in his daily sessions.

Schaaf refuses to worry over Christner's threat to win this time by the knockout route. In fact Ernie insists that he would have won the previous bout with Christner but for a broken hand which occurred early in the bout.

Christner one of the most dangerous punching heavyweights in the game today plans a strenuous training session today at Kelly & Hayes' Gym.

Eddie Mack, Argonne A. A. promoter, still hopes that Primo Carnera, giant Italian, will be a guest at the ringside Friday night. Mack received a wire from Carnera's manager saying that there is a possibility that Carnera will accept Mack's invitation to come to the Hub.

James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion of the world, already has accepted Mack's invitation to attend the heavyweight bout.

Supporting the big match Eddie Mack is planning one of the best preliminary cards of the season. Harry Devine of Worcester and Pancho Villa of New Bedford will clash in the eight round semifinal.

George Carney of the North End who conquered Joe Taveleri in his last start, has been paired with Pat McGrail, former golden glove champion of New York in another six-rounder. Jimmy Rogers will be in another six-rounder with the best man available.

Jim Tierney Denies Cubs Want Lindstrom

New York, Feb. 18 (INS)—Secretary Jim Tierney of the New York Giants today denied that the Chicago Cubs had made an offer for Freddie Lindstrom, youthful third sacker. Moreover, he said that the Giants are not selling ball players but are trying to buy them.

MR. BOSTON

by JACK CONWAY

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. [illegible] —Mr. Boston turned [illegible] buggy into the curb in front of the [illegible] Hotel [illegible]

[illegible]

Mr. Boston was greeted by a [illegible]

Jack Conway

[illegible] Bush, one of the Garden's [illegible], Frank Bruen, general manager of the Garden, and Mike Jacobs, who knows more about tickets and crowds than any other human.

"When did you hit town?" Mr. Boston asked Carey.

"Just got in. Came down from New York with Hype Igoe, Vince Treanor and a flock of the newspaper boys. Where's Sharkey?"

"Getting ready to start training. He's working at Hardie's Casino where they have an indoor gym. Jack cannot box outdoors with so much rain."

"Tell Jack when you see him that I met some pretty wise fellows back in New York who think Scott is going to knock him out in two rounds."

Sharkey will probably say that those birds must be English Tories. But at that Phil [illegible] has looked pretty good in training. I saw him work last week and he [illegible]. He's got a sweet left hand and he knows what the boxing game is all about.

James I. Bush told Mr. Boston he was staying over for the show.

"I wouldn't miss this scrap for anything," said Bush. "If Sharkey gives me half as many thrills as he did the night he knocked out Tommy Loughran I'll feel that I have been well repaid for my trip."

MR. BOSTON queried Bruen about the ticket sale.

"We have $[illegible] in the bank with the show 10 days away," replied Bruen. "Most of the sale has been from out-of-town and from the tourists. The natives usually get steamed up on big-shot events the last week. I don't believe there will be a vacant seat in our new arena when Sharkey and Scott sweep into action. This will mean a gate of $500,000."

MR. BOSTON later dropped in at Hardies Casino to see Sharkey work. Bill Cunningham, Boston sports writer who has arrived in town for the fight, was down close to the ring. Bill was all dressed up with a brand new cane.

"Sharkey boxed two rounds with Pierre Charles, one with Johnny Grosso and another with Moise Boquillon," said Mr. Boston. "He looked very good. He punched with terrific power rocking his sparring partners with right hand blows. Jack also socked the light bag, skipped the rope and did some shadow boxing. It was by far the most impressive workout Sharkey has had. His recent layoff has done him good.

"When Sharkey stepped on the scales following his workout, he weighed 201½ pounds. This is five and a half pounds above the notch he was when he stopped Loughran. It is likely the American champion will be around 196 pounds when he enters the ring against Scott.

"JIM MALONEY was to have started training at Hardie's but Dan Carroll decided to give Shamus a day off to see the sights. Maloney has been boxing regularly and does not require much hard work to put him into condition for his collision with Boquillon. The latter isn't a fancy boxer, but he is very aggressive and lands quite a sock with his right duke.

"MR. and Mrs. William Kennedy of Commonwealth ave., are here for a vacation and will take in the big bout. Bill is a pal of Sharkey and gets a great kick out of playing golf with the American champion. Bill is a southpaw golfer and his score is usually in the 80's.

Cubs Vanguard Off to Camp Today

Chicago, Feb. 18—Manager Joe McCarthy of the Cubs will start for Catalina Island training camp with nine players mostly catchers and pitchers today. Several will be picked up at Kansas City and many are on William Wrigley's island already.

TROY FUND RING SHOW FRIDAY

TEN boxing bouts, vaudeville [illegible] dancing [illegible] include on the program for the final [illegible] to be given [illegible] by the Bennett committee in Columbus hall, Maverick [illegible] East Boston.

[illegible] arrangements [illegible] in [illegible] program [illegible] fighters recognized as headliners.

Kid Flip, well known as former Y.D. champion featherweight, will clash with E[illegible], a former New England champion.

GALLO VS BALDI

Johnny Gallo, who will appear in a Boston Garden show on February 28, will [illegible] Baldi, former well known [illegible] welterweight, who is staging a comeback and will be seen in future boxing shows.

Christie DeRosa, leading amateur welterweight, has been matched with Georgie Walker, well-known professional welterweight.

Franko Baranco, flyweight runner-up in the New England championships, will meet Mike Mod[illegible], fast flyweight.

Joe Kid Admas, East Boston junior lightweight champ, will defend his honors against Frank Diaz, an able leather pusher.

Joe Wiseman, welter champ of the coast guard, will do his stuff against Charlie Coman, another crack performer.

Battling Skee, heavyweight champ of the U. S. coast guard and N. E. amateur champ in 1924, will meet Freddie Russo, a well known professional.

Johnny Indrisano, contender for the world welterweight [illegible], will be seen in action Friday night.

ARTHURS TO REFEREE

Larry Arthurs will referee all bouts, which indicates a fast program. Ben Allen, song and dance man and formerly night club singer at Grand Gardens, Steve Slipper, etc., will perform. [illegible] Yale, known as "East Boston Song Bird," will [illegible] program.

Joye Matty and his Blue Birds orchestra will give their services for the dancing. Billy Barker is planning a large group of entertainers.

The program will begin at [illegible] o'clock and many novelties are promised. This will be the last of the Troy benefits and represent the first big opportunity for East Boston friends of the late officer to contribute.

Blackburn Signs to Coach Browns

Palmyra, N. J., Feb. 18 (AP)—Russell (Lena) Blackburn, former manager of the Chicago White Sox, today made known that he has signed a contract to become coach of the St. Louis Browns. He replaces Bill Killefer, who was elevated to the managership.

Notre Dame Gridder to Play Baseball

Be[illegible], O., Feb. 18 (AP)—John Niemic, Notre Dame football back of two years ago, plans to play baseball in the American Association next season, he indicated today after a telephone conversation with officials in Indianapolis.

Niemic would not say what team he hopes to join. He has just signed a contract as assistant football coach at Rice Institute, Houston, Tex., but announced he would not report until after the baseball season ends.

Jack Conway Picks Second Loser in Thirteen Bouts

Jack Conway was off when he picked Big Boy Rawson to defeat Harry Allen at the Arena last night. The Brockton boxer upset the dope when he flattened Rawson in 55 seconds. No doubt Conway had the stiff punching of Rawson in mind when he made such a selection. He must have overlooked the fact that Allen also can slug with the best of them.

Regardless, the old average still holds good. To date Jack has picked 11 winners in 13 bouts for an average of .846, which is mighty good picking, when one considers that all were mighty hard ones to judge.

GIVE MARRIAGE AN HONEST, DECENT TRIAL

Only Normal Solution to Domestic Problem

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

A FEW days ago, at a "Celeb[illegible] Breakfast," in Washington [illegible] a guest of honor (who de[illegible]) [illegible] made the astounding statement that she had never seen a happy marriage, and never hoped to see one.

Beatrice Fairfax

The lady who described herself as an actress, a novelist and [illegible] taxi driver, said: "If there is such a thing as [illegible] in America it's because [illegible] parties has compromised [illegible] therefore both are not happy."

She went on to state that she was the "child of divorce" and because of it had been sent from one relative to another, like an unwanted parcel and when her time came had divorced her husband because of wrangling.

This might not be a bad place to remind readers of certain kind of fish found in the great lake of Mammoth Cave, Kentucky, which are blind, have had no eyes at all for generations as the result of utter absence of light in the cave.

The versatile lady—equally at home before the footlights, writing novels, or behind the driving wheel of a taxi, like the blind fish of Mammoth Cave—takes her opinions from personal experience and surroundings.

What she says is not only untrue and absurd, it's pitiful to think anyone's individual experience should have been so unhappy to color her entire outlook on [illegible].

Not everyone in the world [illegible] to wearing blue spectacles [illegible] matter with the institution of marriage [illegible] the trouble.

[illegible]

You wouldn't expect [illegible] partnership to succeed [illegible] of rights and a wilful [illegible] code. Why [illegible] marriage to thrive [illegible].

[illegible] to the usual questions [illegible] might be added: "Are you prepared to enter into it [illegible] up with it consulting your relatives about matters which do not concern them?"

And, "Will you refrain from [illegible] ing mother, father or Aunt Matilda of your wife's or husband's shortcomings?" The conclusion of the ceremony would depend upon [illegible] forthcoming [illegible].

Inexpensive Recipes

THE season now is when many of us wish to set our table on a bit less than our budget plan so that we may have the wherewithal to purchase something for which the budget was not originally intended—perhaps an in-between season hat, or a new filet scarf for the hall table. Anyway, my mail brings me increasingly frequent demands for nutritious main dishes that are also inexpensive.

Martha Lee.

So here are recipes to serve [illegible] people at a cost of approximately 50c in most localities.

COUNTRY LAMB, CARROT PIE

Cut one pound of lamb breast in serving pieces. Cover with boiling water. Add one onion, 1 tsp. salt and cook slowly until very tender. Cool. Remove bones and gristle and place meat with one large cup of diced carrots in baking dish.

Heat 3 tbsps. of drippings in 3 tbsps. of flour. Add sufficient lamb stock and the liquor in which the carrots were boiled and water if necessary to make up 1½ cups. Season to taste with salt and pepper and pour half of this over the meat and carrots. Save the rest to serve with the pie. Boil and mash 1½ pounds of potatoes and cover over the top of the meat. Brush with drippings, sprinkle with paprika and brown [illegible].

SPAGHETTI, WITH MEAT AND VEGETABLE SAUCE

Boil and drain [illegible] of spaghetti. Fry 2 tbsps. of chopped onion and 1 chopped green pepper in 1 large tbsp. of drippings or butter. Add ½ pound of hamburg steak and cook thoroughly, stirring with a fork to keep it in small bits. Mix 1 can of vegetable soup and 1½ cups of water with 1 tbsp. of flour. Add this to the meat and cook until slightly thickened. Season to taste with salt, pepper and kitchen bouquet and pour over the spaghetti.

TUNA LOAF WITH CELERY SAUCE

Shred 1 cup of tuna fish and add to it 2 slightly beaten eggs. Add 1 cup of bread crumbs, 3 tbsps. of milk and salt and pepper to taste. Place in a buttered loaf pan and steam or bake ¾ of an hour. Turn out and serve with a sauce made by heating 1 undiluted can of celery soup.

Hope you enjoy the [illegible]

Faithfully yours,
MARTHA LEE.

Mrs. Beeckman's Etiquette

By MRS. BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BEEKMAN: Will you please settle an argument between myself and nephew? I think the salad should be served at the left of the plate, and he thinks it should be placed at the right? Which is correct?

MRS. M. J. M.

BOTH are correct. That is the salad may be placed at whichever side is more convenient. Usually, as a matter of fact, it is placed at the left. Why, I don't know, since this is usually not the more convenient side from which to eat it. If there is only one glass on the right (and in these days there usually is only one) it is, I think, more convenient to have the salad placed at the right of the plate.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: When a young man brings a girl home from a party, dance or other social occasion, and he would obviously like to call, but perhaps is shy, should she invite him to come to her home, or should he ask? and should he or should she suggest a date for this? MOLLIE Needham.

IT is quite proper, and thoroughly hospitable, for the girl to invite the young gentleman to come to see her. She is, in this way, "extending the hospitality of her home," and she can easily do this with a grace and charm that will indicate that she is a perfect hostess, and not just trying to urge a man to come to call on her.

After she has graciously extended her invitation, I think that it would be well for her to leave to the gentleman the suggesting of more definite details. That is, he will, if he wishes to come to see her, ask her, when he may come, or he may wait until later and telephone her for a definite engagement. Don't worry, Mollie, a man will find the way to come to see a girl, if he wants to, and if he sees that his coming is not unwelcome to her—even if he is shy.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: Will you kindly let me [illegible] what would be appropriate for [illegible] husband and me to send to our doctor, who is ill in the hospital. We would like to send him a token of some sort. MRS. R. F. L. Brookline.

SINCE the doctor will probably have a great many flowers sent to him, and since flowers aren't too easy to care for in a hospital, I suggest that you send him a perfectly-chosen book for him to read during his convalescence. Or a group of the latest magazines, such as you are sure he would appreciate, are a good gift for the hospital, since it is easy to turn over the pages and rather casually read.

Help Your Child to Concentrate

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

EVERY day [illegible] seems to [illegible] stacles to [illegible] concentrate on any [illegible]. There are more [illegible] more [illegible] us every moment, until [illegible] wonder [illegible] of the [illegible].

And [illegible] important and more hurried to [illegible] the children than they do to [illegible] we can well wonder how they ever pin their thoughts on one thing for any length of time at all.

[illegible] we don't help them much. We interrupt. We send them on a million trivial errands. We insist that they go to dancing school, that they practice, appear in recitals, that they do a thousand and [illegible] things which wrench them from their business of living, which in early childhood is play, uninterrupted and unguided as much as possible.

We begin away back in baby [illegible] to shatter a child's power of attention unless we are careful. Baby is sitting on the floor, [illegible] picking up a block and [illegible] down. Over and over [illegible] he does it, and we say, thinking how dreadfully monotonous [illegible] proceeding must be: "Here, [illegible] pretty ball." And we dangle a bright ball before him until he reaches for it, or knocks it away in a fit of temper. Then we wonder what is wrong with [illegible].

The block play certainly looks unamusing to us. But we are [illegible] longer babies. There is something happening in his tiny mind when he does such a thing over and over. He is figuring out something [illegible] other to his satisfaction, and our prime duty is to allow him to keep at it until he is satisfied [illegible] of his own accord.

We complain that children [illegible] from one interest to another [illegible] we don't seem to help them much when they want to keep at one thing until they finish it.

Damp sawdust sprinkled on a dusty floor before sweeping will prevent the dust from rising. It may be used also as a protection when a room is being painted and it is not convenient to take up the linoleum. A thick layer of sawdust will absorb any paint that may be spilled.

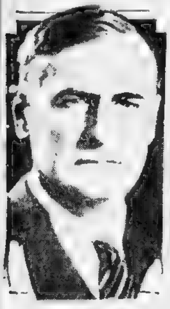

Put forks and spoons into a basin of hot soapy water with a little soda dissolved in it. Wash carefully, brushing forks between the prongs, and drying thoroughly on a dry cloth. A final rub with a soft polishing duster will bring up the shine.

BANK SAVINGS IN BAY STATE ARE LARGER

By FRANK H. McLOON

An erroneous impression is apt to be gained from perusal of a dispatch widely published the first of this week declaring that savings bank accounts for 1929 showed a decrease for the first time in 20 years. The dispatch failed to mention that [illegible] State savings [illegible] showed a gain. One big Boston banker tells me [illegible] banks [illegible] of withdrawal when they attribute them to Wall and State St. speculation. As he sees it considerable sums were withdrawn from savings banks to enable stockholders to become outright instead of margin owners of issues which suffered in the October-November break. He points to the considerable increase recorded in numbers of stockholders.

NEW HIGHS ARE RECORDED BY MANY STOCKS

By STANLEY W. PRENOSIL

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—The rally in stock prices, which started around mid-day yesterday, was resumed with vigor in today's market under the leadership of the high grade industrials and public utilities.

Scores of issues were marked up 1 to 6 points in the first few hours of trading, many of them to new high levels for the year, while the few stocks which declined in the early trading made up all or part of their losses in early afternoon.

TRADING EXPANDS

Trading showed a marked expansion in volume, nearly 1,800,000 shares changing hands in the first two hours, with the ticker running 10 or more minutes behind the market, most of the day.

Call money renewed unchanged at 4½ per cent with indications that the rate would be maintained all day. Some calling of loans took place during the morning, but these were off-set by offerings of new funds. The time money market was quiet.

Wall Street found plenty of encouragement in the fact that the rise in brokers' loans has not kept pace with the rising stock prices in the last six weeks which was construed as an indication that buying was for the account of strong interests.

The week's condition statement for the Federal Reserve showed that securities loans of member banks dropped $10,000,000 in the week ended February 12 but totals were still $160,000,000 above the total a year ago.

Despite the recent strength of the market, and its ability to consolidate the year's gains, several of the conservative commission houses have advised their customers to keep in a liquid position and not to extend long commitments at this time. Others continue to recommend individual stocks which have good earnings prospects this year, regardless of current trend.

STEEL AT NEW TOP.

United States Steel common crossed 189 to the highest price since the November break. Westinghouse Electric moved up about 6 points to 179¼, which contrasts with the low of 100 established last October.

American Telephone, Pacific Telephone, National Biscuit (old), Otis Elevator, Air Reduction, Atlas Powder, International Business Machines, Auburn Motor, Warren Brothers and U. S. Industrial Alcohol all sold 4 to 6 points above yesterday's final quotations.

One of the most interesting developments in the day's news was the announcement that steel mill operations generally had been stepped up to 81 per cent of capacity, as against 76½ two weeks ago.

Another sharp increase in crude production was reported last week. Otherwise, there was little in the day's news to influence the price movements.

OPERATIONS OF STEEL GAIN

Dow, Jones & Co. reported today that the steel industry is now operating at 81 per cent of rated capacity, as against from 79 to 80 per cent a week ago, and 76½ per cent two weeks ago.

Increased orders from structural steel consumers, automotive industry and the railroads were given as the causes of the advance.

The United States Steel Corporation is averaging between 85 and 86 per cent compared with 83 and 84 per cent a week ago and 80 per cent two weeks ago.

Independent operators are maintaining a 77 per cent schedule, an increase of 1 per cent over the preceding week and of 4 per cent over the figure of two weeks ago.

Gobel Report for 1929 Made Public

New York, Feb. 18—The report of Adolf Gobel, Inc., and subsidiaries, including Jacob E. Decker & Son, for year ended December 18, 1929, shows net profit of $131,298 after interest, depreciation, federal taxes, minority interest, subsidiary preferred dividends, etc., equivalent to 30 cents a share on 430,989 no-par shares of stock which will be outstanding when all of the old issue is exchanged into new stock. This compares with net profit of $563,332 or $1.61 a share on 348,477 shares in 1928.

Penn.-Dixie Will Reopen Tenn. Mill

Pennsylvania-Dixie Cement Corporation's plant at Kingsport, Tenn., will resume operations March 1. Mill was closed down nearly a year ago. The resumption of work means employment for between 150 and 200 men at Kingsport and between 50 and 75 men at plant's rock quarry near Gate City, Va.

Consolidation Plan for Niagara Hudson

New York, Feb. 18—The Niagara Hudson Power Corporation is planning to consolidate its properties through elimination of subsidiaries, Mohawk Hudson Power Corporation; Buffalo, Niagara & Eastern Power Corporation, and Northeastern Power Corporation. It is expected other operating units will be absorbed into parent company later.

February Pace Is Moderately Encouraging

Official Employment Report Gratifying; Stocks Tend Upward

By B. C. FORBES

NEW YORK, Feb. 18—February is giving a fairly good account of itself. March should bring somewhat more pronounced improvement in business and employment.

The stock market is recovering fast enough.

B. C. Forbes

Particularly gratifying are the latest reassurances by the Federal Department of Labor that employment is distinctly on the mend. If further gains continue to be made, then the country will be able to stand a mixture of unfavorable happenings and statistics in other directions. Beyond shadow of doubt the first essential at this moment is to put to work every person possible. If unemployment can be cured, a rational measure of prosperity will certainly follow.

In view of the admittedly unfavorable state of employment in New York city, as emphasized by the State Labor Department, it is peculiarly gratifying to know that conditions are less unsatisfactory throughout the country as a whole and that betterment has positively set in.

Complete economic statistics for February are awaited with unusual interest. There is not unanimity of opinion concerning the general business trend. Some contend that recovery has been confined mainly to automobiles, steel and (less conspicuously) textiles. They point to the indisputable decrease in railway car loadings, bank clearings, building operations, travel, bank savings, and so forth. They also point to the increase in commercial failures, and vow that unemployment is distinctly worse than generally portrayed.

The majority view, however, is that, taken as a whole, some progress has been made this month, and that this upward trend promises to continue, probably at an accelerated pace.

Next to unemployment, the most disturbing development of late has been the low price level for our principal farm products. Last week the movement was not wholly in one direction. Both wheat and cotton enjoyed occasional sharp rallies. On the commodity exchanges the conviction is gaining ground that selling was overdone and that the near future will bring prices somewhat more to the liking of growers.

The financial and business world is watching very closely the many-sided activities of the Federal Farm Board. Buying commodities at prices above the open market is regarded by practical men of affairs as an extremely daring experiment. They cannot but fear that the ultimate consequences will not accord with the prophecies of political and other advocates of artificial pegging of prices.

That taxpayers will finally have to foot a bill of considerable magnitude is almost certain. But since other groups have not hesitated to call upon Washington for protection and support, our farmers may be pardoned for claiming that it is high time they had a whack at the public treasury.

Curiously America is being treated simultaneously to a wholly different method of meeting over-production. Whereas taxpayers money is being used in an attempt to shore up grain and cotton prices because of over-supply, leaders in the oil industry have deliberately dropped prices for crude in an effort to curb over-production. The latter expedient is in line with traditional economic principles. But since the World War many plans have been hatched to prevent the old-time law of supply and demand from operating without restraint. The latest illustration afforded by large-scale American industry is the pegging of copper at 18 cents and the concerted curtailment of output.

It remains to be seen whether this "new era" in industry and business will work out more successfully than did the "new era" in stock speculation.

Stock quotations last week touched a new peak since the October-November collapse. Irregularity, not illogically, rules. Gradually, however, the bugaboo of "over-hanging" stock salvaged during the panic is disappearing. Indeed, Wall Street declares that there is now an unusually extensive short account. The money market being now wholly on the side of the bulls, it may prove feasible to cause bears acute discomfort.

Further uneven improvement in the market will be natural.

CURB MARKET HAS A RISING TENDENCY

By CLAUD A. JAGGER

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—The curb market worked irregularly higher today under the influence of continued up-bidding of selected utilities and specialties. Oils, a weak feature yesterday, displayed a tendency to rally.

Strong spots were Utilities Power & Light, and United Light & Power A, both reaching new high levels for the year in active trading. Electric Bond & Share sold up moderately.

American Gas & Electric, which displayed outstanding buoyancy in the utility group yesterday, encountered moderate profit-taking during the morning.

Associated Gas A eased further, reaching a new low for the movement at 43.

Aluminum Company was again a weak feature, breaking 20 points in selling, apparently induced by the effort in the Senate to reduce the tariff on aluminum. The turnover was light, however, and this high-priced issue normally moves over a wide range.

Among the low-priced industrials, Crocker Wheeler and Fokker Aircraft were strong spots, each selling up a couple of points to new highs for the movement, the latter raising in sympathy with a revival of bullish activity in air stocks on the "Big Board."

Several of the investment trust and holding company stocks made fair progress. Blue Ridge and Shenandoah common shares each rose fractionally to new 1930 highs, in belated response to the condition statements published yesterday morning.

The National Investors group continued to climb, the recently announced policy of making quarterly statements evidently meeting with favor.

Marine Midland sold up a fraction to 43, the best level for the movement, in response to announcement that its constituent banks had taken most of the Treasury's latest offering of bills, one of the first major operations of this western New York banking chain.

The issue of Marshall Field & Co. stock, publicly offered today, was admitted to trading on a when basis, and sold around 53, as it did on the Produce Exchange yesterday, a premium of 3 points above the offering price.

Trading in the oils was quieter, but rallies of around a point were numerous during the morning, indicating short covering. The preliminary estimate of last week's crude production shows a substantial gain, but this was attributable to opening of wells for testing purposes in California.

SPLIT OF BANK STOCK IS SEEN

Split-up of the capital stock of Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company is an early possibility, according to a statement by Hornblower & Weeks which they make in an analysis of the Chicago banking institution.

"Banks throughout the country," say Hornblower & Weeks, "are realizing more and more the value of customer-ownership in developing an extensive and loyal clientele, a policy so successfully pursued by public utilities in recent years. Stocks selling at several hundred dollars per share tend to discourage a public following. We venture the prediction that some action will be taken in the not too distant future to bring the price of Continental Illinois stock to a level which will make it a popular investment commitment among high grade bank stocks.

"This can be accomplished by a reduction in the par value and an offsetting increase in the number of shares, such as for instance, a five-for-one split-up and a reduction in par value from the present $100 to a $20 par value. We point to a strong possibility of such a development and suggest the present Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company stock as a suitable and attractive bank stock investment in an enviable position to benefit not only from the ever expanding functions of the modern banking institution, but also from its outstanding position in the second largest and most rapidly growing financial center of the country."

New Lows Are Set in Grain Trading

Chicago, Feb. 18—Wheat futures were erratic today. Prices dropped vertically at the opening for losses of 1⅛ to 1½ cents and quickly went to new season's lows of $1.11⅞ for March, $1.16 for May, and $1.17¼ for July. Previous seasonal lows on these months were $1.12, $1.16½, and $1.18, made on Feb. 4 and 6. A rally of between one and two cents occurred later, March being quoted at $1.13¼, May at $1.17⅞, and July at $1.18¾. Sentiment in the trade, however, seems to be predominantly bearish. Large supplies and the new crop only a few months away are matters receiving emphasis at this time.

Park Utah Report for Year Is Given

Park Utah Consolidated Mines Co. reports for 1929 net income of $467,722 after depreciation, federal taxes, etc., but before depletion, against $913,377 in 1928.

Net income for 1929 is equal to 22 cents a share, par $1 on 2,089,968 shares, against 44 cents a share on 2,068,645 shares in 1928.

Fox Financing Plan Is Adopted

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—At the close of a meeting of the Fox Film Theaters Corporations today, Samuel Untermyer, counsel for both concerns, announced that the boards of both corporations had adopted the plan of financing offered by the Banc America-Blair Corporation, Lehman Brothers and Dillon, Read & Co., on which the bankers had been working for some months and which had been before the stockholders for weeks.

Mergenthaler to Pay 25-ct. Extra

Mergenthaler Linotype Co. declared extra dividend of 25 cents and regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 both payable March 31 to stock of record March 5. The same dividends were declared at the last meeting prior to which time four regular quarterly dividends of $1.25 and extra dividends of 50 cents each had been paid.

$2,000,000 Notes Will Be Retired

The Butterick Co. has arranged with Halsey, Stuart & Co. for payment of $2,000,000 5 per cent notes, which are due March 1, 1930. There will be no public financing in this connection.

Today, in the real estate columns of the Classified Ads, you will find scores of opportunities for profitable investment.

LYNN OUTPUT OF SHOES IS LARGER

Production of women's shoes at Lynn is larger this month than last, but the total is not up to that of a year ago. Easter comes late this year, April 20. This retards early spring buying.

The National Association of Shoe Wholesalers has sent out a circular to retail merchants advising thrifty buying and arguing "the smaller the stock a retailer can carry without loss of volume, the less depreciation he will have and the greater will be his net profits at the end of the season."

Total production of women's shoes last year was 131,000,000 pairs, an increase of 7 per cent over 1928. To this may be added 5,500,000 pairs that were imported. It is a question if all these shoes were taken by consumers.

An uncommonly large production of black footwear indicates that the shoe buying public is in a thrifty mood. Colors usually come strong in the spring, and brace up sales.

There is a larger use of crepe and composition rubber soles, which indicates a run on sport shoes, and at the same time a lesser demand for soles of leather. Shoes can be made faster, for novelty McKays are now made in from 8 to 12 days, according to the system of each maker, where formerly from 12 to 20 days were given to the making of like types of shoes.

So when buyers start to buy they can get their shoes more quickly than ever.

COTTON PRICES ARE LOWER

New York, Feb. 18—Cotton opened barely steady at a decline of 15 to 19 points today under a renewal of yesterday's selling movement, which seemed to find additional encouragement in the relatively easy showing of Liverpool and the declines reported in Bombay. Business was fairly active.

Trade buying and covering was reported, but it was by no means aggressive and prices worked about 20 to 24 points net lower by the end of the first half-hour, with May selling off to 15.57 and October to 15.93.

Liverpool reported hedging, local and foreign liquidation in the market there and said that Manchester was unsettled, with buyers of both cotton cloths and yarns cautious.

The lower opening of the wheat market came in for considerable comment and probably encouraged some selling of cotton.

Westinghouse Has Big Orders Gain

Westinghouse Electric reports unfilled orders of approximately $65,000,000, the largest since 1921 and 40 per cent larger than a year ago. Orders of General Electric are larger than at this time last year. Power consumption is up 10 per cent to 15 per cent. Steel operations are higher and automobile production larger. These two industries are large consumers of copper. The telephone and telegraph companies are to spend more money over the next five years than ever before. With all this, the copper producers have cut production 40 per cent. The copper situation may be bad now but the outlook for the next six months is promising.

Phillips-Jones Has Big Earnings

Phillips-Jones Corp. reports for the year ended Dec. 31, 1929, net income after charges and taxes of $418,795, equal, after preferred dividends, to $3.45 a share on 85,000 no-par common shares. This compares with net in 1928 of $467,792, or $4.02 a common share after dividend deductions.

TELEPHONE'S CONVERTIBLES TAKE LEAD

By JOHN L. COOLEY

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—Large scale trading in American Telephone convertible 4½s virtually monopolized the bond tape in today's market.

This debenture, turning over at the rate of $1,500,000 an hour in the earlier part of the session, displayed a vitality reminiscent of last summer and rose about 4 points to a new high for the year. Its strength, of course, was due to the rise in the shares.

Since the stock market has been making higher ground, there has been a revival of interest in share privilege bonds, and this tendency was continued today. International Telephone 4½s, Missouri Pacific 5½s and Remington Rand 5½s, with warrants were bought on moderate gains.

French 7½s and 7s reacted slightly on the news of the Cabinet's downfall. The former declined about ½ of a point soon after the opening, but the latter issue lost only a small fraction. A considerable percentage of both loans, offered in this country several years ago, has been retired and substantial blocks of the remainder are held in France.

In view of the present easiness of money in France, investment bankers here would not be surprised if the government took steps to liquidate further these high-coupon obligations.

Seasoned domestic bonds again lagged and few changes of importance came out. The high grade rails were dull and firm in thin trading. Pennsylvania 4½s, Virginian 5s, Baltimore & Ohio Gold 4s, and Canadian Pacific debenture 4s found the market narrow and varied little from the Monday close. Illinois Central 5s declined a point on small offerings.

Utility and industrial bonds displayed marked lethargy, especially in the prime listings. A few wide spreads appeared in secondary issues. Virginia Iron Coal & Coke 5s rose 2 points to 72, while Lehigh Valley Coal 5s dropped a point to 74.

United States governments were firm, although only the liberties showed much activity. None of the treasuries was traded in the forenoon.

A three-point raise carried Bulgaria 7½s to a new 1930 high of 90. Belgian 7s were firm.

Empire Public Service Corp. offered a $3,500,000 issue of 20-year 6 per cent debentures at 94½. Several new municipal loans are soon to be Sold.

Silica Gel Corp. Has New Company

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Silica Gel Corporation has formed a new company to be known as Silica Gel Dehydration & Refrigeration, Inc., which will instal cooling and refrigeration plants in homes and buildings, it was learned today. Application for a charter has been filed in Maryland.

While the officers and directors of Silica Gel are expected to manage the new company, it is understood that the American Radiator & Standard Sanitary Corporation will acquire a substantial interest in it, and be represented on the directorate. E. Wilbur Miller, president of Silica Gel, and also of the Davison Chemical Co., is expected to head the new enterprise.

Wills Ste. Claire Payment Expected

Directors of Wills Ste. Claire, Inc., expect shortly to declare a dividend in liquidation of $6 or $7 a share on the first preferred stock of that company with more to come later.

N. E. Telephone to Spend Millions on Construction

New England Telephone Co. executive committee met in Boston today. The committee authorized the expenditure of $5,832,722 for new construction and improvements in plants.

The largest sum, $4,253,588, will be spent in Massachusetts. For Maine the appropriation totals $1,228,784; New Hampshire, $96,946; Vermont, $57,169, and Rhode Island, $236,335.

BIG AVIATION COMPANY BUYS

The North American Aviation, Inc., the first big aviation holding company to be formed in this country, with a paid in capital and surplus of $25,000,000, has purchased all the common stock of the Ford Instrument Co. of Long Island City, one of the largest precision tool manufacturers in the world.

The transfer of control is said to involve a sum exceeding $3,000,000. By this purchase North American secures another company with an outstanding engineering and manufacturing organization.

North American now owns the Sperry Gyroscope Co., Inc., which it purchased about a year ago. It was stated that the policy of North American will be to continue the operation of the Ford Co. as a separate unit, with Hannibal C. Ford as president.

Heretofore Mr. Ford has been vice-president and chief engineer of the company, which he founded about 15 years ago. Mr. Ford is a distinguished engineer and was for five years associated with Elmer A. Sperry as chief engineer of the Sperry Co.

The Ford Co. has been a substantial earner for a number of years. Since the Sperry Co. was acquired by North American it has developed several important instruments for navigation, such as the Sperry automatic pilot, Sperry horizon and the directional gyroscope. These two latter instruments were used by Lieut. Doolittle in his blind flying experiment for the Guggenheim fund.

General Cigar Has Big Gain for Year

During 1929, General Cigar Co., which is by far the largest individual producer of cigars in the United States, increased its total production of cigars by more than 128,000,000 cigars, which compared with an increase for the industry as a whole in the United States of only 98,015,678. General Cigar's production showed an increase of 17 per cent over the 752,000,000 cigars produced in 1928, last year's output being well over 880,000,000. This was more cigars than any other single manufacturer has ever produced in a year's time. In 1927, General Cigar produced 728,000,000 cigars and in 1926 its outturn was 700,000,000, so that the increase in production last year was two and one-half times as great as the gain in the two preceding years.

Gain in production by all manufacturers in the United States in 1929 was only 1.52 per cent, so that General Cigar's rate of gain last year was more than 11 times as rapid as the gain in the entire industry. In all 1929 total domestic production of cigars was 6,551,683,352, an increase of 98,015,678 cigars over the 6,453,667,674 cigars produced in 1928.

Detroit Edison Earns $10.69 a Share

Detroit Edison Co. and subsidiary utility companies report for 12 months ended Jan. 31, 1930, net income of $13,105,890 after interest, amortization, depreciation, taxes, etc., equivalent to $10.69 a share on 1,225,780 shares of stock, now outstanding. This compares with $12,867,958 or $10.50 a share in preceding 12 months, based on same number of shares.

MAN ARRESTED AFTER WOMAN FLEES HOUSE

New York, Feb 18—A married woman's story that she had been lured from Boston by a man who later kept her prisoner for six days in a house at Mamaroneck, N. Y., caused the arrest of George E. Cousins, 40, while detectives sought evidence for Mann act charges.

Mrs. Irene Ryan Griffith, 28, was almost hysterical when brought to the federal building in New York by Mamaroneck police.

Escaping from a house on Stanley ave., Mamaroneck, where she says she was confined, she had told her story to them earlier.

With the policeman came Cousins, in handcuffs, for questioning by Asst. U. S. Atty. George Mintzer, who will investigate to determine whether he is in any way connected with the traffic in girls and women between white slavers in this city and Boston, which federal, state and city authorities have been fighting for months.

She had met Cousins on the street in Boston, Dec. 7, said Mrs. Griffith, and after some conversation he suggested a movie. Later they became friendlier, she said between spells of weeping, and he persuaded her to sell her automobile and come to New York city with him.

Instead of going on to New York, however, he made excuses to get her from the train at Mamaroneck, according to her story, took her to the house in Stanley ave., and refused to allow her to leave.

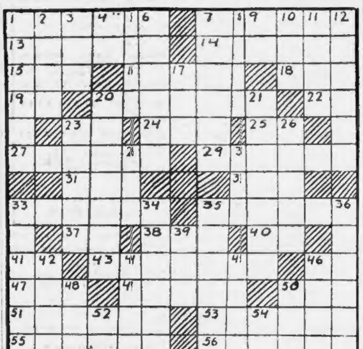

She is penniless, Mrs. Griffith declared, because Cousins took the $300 she obtained from the sale of her car.

Stockholders Will Approve Merger

Stockholders of Batchelder & Snyder Co. will meet tomorrow to approve the merger and consolidation of William A. Doe Co. and Arthur E. Dorr Co. with the Batchelder & Snyder wholesale division. The stockholders will also consider an issue of 2000 additional preferred shares for cash at par $100, as of January 30.

In his letter to shareholders, Pres. Frederick S. Snyder stated: "The business of the two companies acquired should add about $4,000,000 to sales and materially increase profits for the common stock."

SNOW CLEARED OFF AIRPORT IN JIG TIME

By GEORGE HAMBLIN

The deepest snow of the winter failed to slow the boys down the slightest bit, for with a truck-plough and a tractor plough at work runways at Boston airport were cleared to permit the ships to be moved in and out of the hangars.

Then Airport Super Edson and his chief aide, Patrolman Danny Eldridge, moved the snow fighting forces out to the middle of the field, where the old Boston Airport Corp. hangar still stands, and went to work out there.

The high wind of Sunday prevented any flying, with the exception of the arrival of two ships, one a Colonial tri-motor and the other Russell Boardman and his Travel Air cabin monoplane. Said high wind also drifted the snow around the edges of the old hangar to an uncomfortable depth.

The ploughs did their stuff and the boys were happy. Skyways got a chance to test out the "air wheels" in use on a couple of their Moths, and found that the wheels were perfectly satisfactory.

These air wheels are large balloon tires, having no supporting wheel, and operating efficiently with a very low air pressure. The wheels have wide treads, permitting landings and take-offs under the most difficult conditions.

The boys pecked out windows at the Moths, which were gaily jumping deep snow drifts, and going on their merry way, where planes equipped with ordinary wheels and tires became stuck.

COLD DOESN'T STOP THEM

There wasn't any appreciable slackening of flying, despite the fact that Weather Man Ross' thermometer showed a scant ten above zero. We guess that the boys are sitting on top of the world with their air-cooled engines, with never a thought to the possibilities of a freeze-up, as was the case with water-cooled jobs.

After a day of student work, and an occasional joy hop passenger, Al Sherman, chief of student instruction with Curtiss-Wright, went for a buggy ride in the C-W Ford tri-motor, which Ralph Wickford, chief pilot, was testing.

Sherman sat up front with Wickford, and directly they were off the ground, "Wick" turned the controls over to him. Al stated afterward that it seemed like a whole lot of airplane to be parked all around him, but he made the landing without any trouble.

Bill Kennard, the airplane steward in the C-W employ, looked out at the "Tin Goose" and sighed. For Bill misses the daily trips to Hyannis, Marthas Vineyard and Nantucket.

Frank LeMan, sales manager with East Coast Aircraft, hopped aboard the morning tri-motor to New York, on the first leg of a trip to St. Louis to give the International Aircraft Show the once-over. Frank turned out a day's work in three hours before making a dash for the Ford, and this morning is in St. Louis, and we imagine barging around the show to his heart's content.

FLORIDA TRIP OFF

Consideration having been given a proposed trip to Florida to spend the remaining days of the winter, and a negative decision having been reached, the "Three Must Get There" Win Young, Wes Temple and George McDonald, have settled down to a little serious thinking about the coming summer.

Harold G. "Waco" Crowley, who was chief of the C-W seaplane division in Boston last summer, is flying the boys' Travel Air, and delights in climbing it from a take-off to a couple of thousand feet. The boys aver that the ship is the fastest climbing job on the airport for its class. Powered with a J-5 Whirlwind, the ship sure puts them out.

We hear from New Bedford that Ike Dawson, Dave Sher and Hank Olden, president, general manager and chief pilot, respectively, for Sound Airways, have returned from New York after giving the air show down there the double-O and are all pepped up about the summer's flying business.

Olden is organizing a flying club, and will get the boys started early next month, or as soon as the weather settles down.

Sher makes it emphatic that there will be more things doing at the airport in East Fairhaven every week-end than on any other port in these six states. Davis is planning a monthly air meet, and in between times, a show that will have the crowds out all the time.

Merrimac Valley Airways, up at Newburyport, of which Jimmie Dickens and Earl Crabb are president and chief pilot, respectively, have put the four-place Stinson cabin monoplane away for the winter, and are making plans for the enlargement of the airport in the spring.

The boys will corral a couple of small, open cockpit ships for student work, and we expect to hear big things from Bossy Gillis' town in the near future.

ANCHOR LINERS POPULAR SHIPS

A. L. Cumming, general passenger manager of the Anchor line, who is making a brief tour of the United States, paid a visit to the offices of the Cunard-Anchor lines, 33 State st., today. It is his first visit to Boston.

"More than 40 per cent of the total American quota to the United States from Great Britain and Northern Ireland is carried in Anchor line ships," he said.

"The same is true to a large extent of the northern counties of the Free State, such as Donegal. Continued growth and importance of the Anchor line is due to the fact that it serves one of the most important gateways of Europe with a fine fleet of modern steamers."

LAWYERS GRILL GOODWIN ON STATE FUND

Brockton, Feb. 18—Frank A. Goodwin and local attorneys and insurance men swapped questions and answers at Eagles' Hall here on State fund automobile legislation.

John W. Downs, counsel for the Massachusetts Association of Insurance Agents, was present, but Goodwin announced that he would not debate the bill with him unless he represented the Brockton Bar Association. It is understood that the local bar association refused to have Downs speak for it in a debate on the bill.

Goodwin appeared here under the auspices of the automobile owners' committee headed by Joseph La Fontaine.

A man in the audience asked Downs through Goodwin if he (Downs) had ever represented a defunct insurance company. Downs said he had not.

Many questions were put to Goodwin by lawyers in the audience who appeared to be opposed to his bill. In his answers, the speaker stated that his bill was not aimed against lawyers bringing insurance claims, but was designed to cut down the heavy overhead of insurance companies and the large salaries paid to their officials.

He said that he saw no reason why a man should pay more insurance for a large automobile than a small one, arguing that "one kills you as quickly as the other."

In behalf of his bill he stated that the State has no right to send a car owner to an insurance company's counter and order him to pay that company a profit and its agents' commission.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING
CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

Our Million Dope Addicts

Congressman Porter's Bills to Curb Sale of Soul-Destroying Narcotics Should Be Supported by All

SOME DAY the powerful nations that control the world's dope supply may do something real to LIMIT that supply. That's a hope of a more or less remote future.

But IN THE MEANTIME Congressman Stephen Porter, of Pennsylvania, says that THIS nation can do something NOW to limit the DEMAND for dope in the United States—and that interests most vitally every mother and father, every teacher, every social worker.

This nation furnishes a large, profitable demand for the dope that other nations are willing to supply.

Congressman Porter has pending in the House of Representatives two bills that would help cut down the dope demand, that would make it much more DIFFICULT for dope pedlars to supply the demand of our million or more addicts, that would SAVE from the terrible dope habit millions of boys and girls who form the FUTURE MARKET for the international dope ring.

Congressman Porter proposes the establishment of an independent Federal narcotic bureau ADEQUATELY EQUIPPED to deal with this rising dope menace. In the past the Federal fight against contraband narcotics has been poorly financed and therefore weak and altogether inadequate.

He proposes in his second bill to establish a closer supervision of the so-called "legitimate" agencies through which dope is distributed in this nation.

Under the terms of this bill physicians, druggists, dentists, manufacturers and others who are legally entitled to deal in narcotics would be licensed and the amount of narcotics in which they deal would be rigidly limited.

Limitation of narcotics distributed through "legitimate agencies" is SUPPOSED to be in effect now. But it is really a joke.

It is estimated that twenty tons of opium would meet the legitimate medical and scientific needs of the United States.

But in 1928 the Federal Narcotic Control Board allowed the distribution of seventy tons of opium in this country. Literally HUNDEDS OF TONS were consumed here.

Remember that a few GRAINS of this terribly dangerous stuff will wreck a human life.

Every honest physician, dentist, druggist and dealer would WELCOME a more rigid control of dope distribution in this country.

Every mother and father, every human being who realizes the menace of the dope evil would welcome it—and welcome the passage of the Porter legislation in Washington.

Thorough-going legislation, such as Stephen Porter unerringly proposes, and thorough-going anti-narcotic EDUCATIONAL work, such as the HEARST newspaper have been carrying on for years, will help rid this nation of an evil that drags millions down to death and degradation WORSE than death.

Whoop Over Football

College Presidents and Public Continue at Odds

SEVERAL small college presidents—or, rather, presidents of small colleges—are continuing their campaign against football. They insist that high-salaried coaches turn out winning teams. Winning football teams attract great crowds. Large crowds demand bigger stadiums. Collegiate football thus becomes a gigantic enterprise, overshadowing the more important aspects of higher education.

All these charges are perhaps true, but football does some thing quite important. It supplies millions of American spectators an opportunity to enjoy an emotional holiday—to get rid of pent-up energies and forget everything else in a delirium of healthy excitement in the open air. Wise doctors are often pleased when a critical man patient swears or a woman patient cries. The masses, in a metropolitan civilization, need to let off steam. They do it at a football game.

Furthermore, football revenue from the crowds often goes to good ends. One college, for example, piled up a surplus of more than $2,000,000 from football between 1922 and 1928. This money provided a new dormitory, gymnasium, tennis courts, ground improvements and a $50,000 endowment fund.

World Debt to Pasteur

By ARCHIBALD HENDERSON

A FEW years ago a nation-wide questionnaire was conducted in France to determine the greatest man, by public opinion, that country had produced.

The prize, by an overwhelming majority, fell not to Napoleon or Louis Fourteenth or Moliere, but to Louis Pasteur. He is generally esteemed the greatest physical benefactor of mankind in recorded time.

WE are so familiar now-a-days with Pasteur's methods and results—notably the pasteurization of milk and the Pasteur treatment for hydrophobia—that it seems as if we must always have had them.

The fact is that Pasteur ushered in an entirely new epoch in the treatment of disease. He inaugurated the system of study of the behavior and properties of microscopic and ultra-microscopic forms of life.

Born at Dole, France, on December 27, 1822, Pasteur received an excellent education, devoted especial attention to the study of chemistry, and won hearty commendations from his teachers for his brilliant work.

At the age of 21 he made his first great chemical discovery. He showed that there are four kinds of tartaric acid, instead of two; and that there are a variety of strange compounds in nature which are mirror images of each other.

As a result of this discovery the new science of "stereochemistry" has been evolved.

PASTEUR saved the silk industry of France by discovering the parasite which preys upon the worm and by devising methods for protecting the worm from this parasite.

He may be said almost to have saved the cattle raising industry of France by discovering that "anthrax," a disease of cattle, will in likewise a disease of man, is due to a microbe.

This was the first discovery in the history of medicine that a human disease is due to a microbe.

Pasteur developed a method for the successful treatment of hydrophobia, hitherto entirely incurable, by means of inoculation with "attenuated virus."

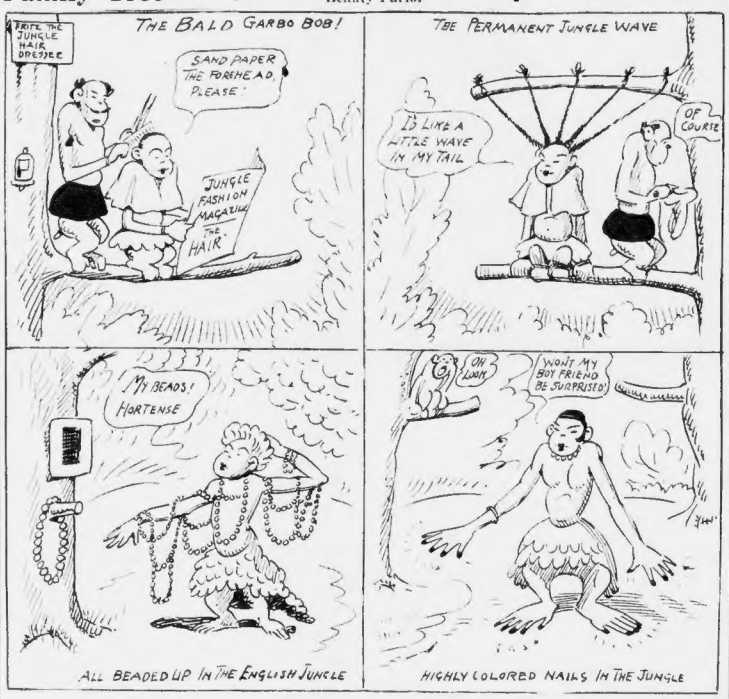

The microbe of hydrophobia has not yet been discovered. Pasteur founded the great science of bacteriology, of public health and of preventive medicine. He did the work of a Titan.

Jungle Beauty Parlor

By T. E. Powers

The BAER Facts

By BUGS BAER

THE animals had grown tired of snapping and clawing each other to elegant details. They decided on a peace conference, and the lion was appointed head man by his own unanimous request.

It was agreed that they would humanize the claw, benevolize the mule's kind foot and philanthropize the fang. No more would the crippling baboon drop his cocoanut grenade on the non-combatant wart hog, and the bee would beat his stinger into a knitting needle.

The meeting broke up with many tight lipped smiles and congratulatory shakings of well sheathed claws. The fox left for his bungalow in a restricted section of the jungle. On the way he stopped to converse with a guinea hen in a tree.

"Come on down and have a dance," said the fox to the hen.

"I'll at this one out" said the hen.

"Whattsamattah?" asked the fox.

"Nothing's the matfah," said the hen "and nothing's gonna be."

"Aw, come on down, hennie," the fox teased. "We're pals now. Haven't you heard the news? We just had a peace conference and there is going to be a vegetarian holiday of ten years with a reduction of armament and peace on earth and good will to those who can afford it. I'm your friend and you're my little buddy."

While the fox was jamming the air with his city ways and store clothing, a new station tuned in. It was the baying of hounds, and the mournful static made the fox's ears stick up like candles on a birthday cake. He started away from there at a slow lope until his engine got warm.

"Whatsamattah, foxie?" asked the hen, "Stick around for the dance."

"Nope, said the fox. "I'm on my distinguished way. I'm gonna find a detour and buzz along it until it narrows down to ticker tape. Them's hounds."

"Hang around," advised the hen. "I know them's hounds, but didn't you tell me that all the world was at peace and that we all were little buddies together? You're my pal and the hounds are your shekisha."

"Notta chance," said the fox, as he dashed from the main track and scooted up a siding. "I'm off. I know there has been a peace conference. And you know there has been a peace conference. But there's always some darn fools who may not have read the papers."

This story, it's not exactly in these words, was told by Bob Ingersoll many, many years ago.

Paste it on your windshield for reference around 1940.

H. G. Wells Writes on "The Science of Life"

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and Geo. P. Wells

THE insects, not satisfied, fly to another buttercup for another meal looking again for nectar; they rub up against one or more of the stigmas and leave a few of the precious yellow grains upon them—and thus the eggcells are fertilized.

Most of the gayly colored flowers with which the reader is familiar work in the same way. The buttercup, their sepals, petals, nectaries, stamens, ovaries and stigmas can be readily identified.

The flower may be twisted up into a more or less elaborate shape, as in snapdragon or monkshood or columbine.

And the non-botanical reader may have trouble in finding the parts of daisy and dandelions, which are not single flowers at all but bunches of a great number of curiously made little flowers crowded together.

But with a hand lens even this mystery may be unraveled without serious difficulty. There are many ingenious modifications of the scheme; flowers may specialize for example in the attraction and elimination of particular kinds of insects.

In general, the colors and perfumes of flowers play the part of advertisements, the honey that of a fee, and the insects are busy go-betweens, clamoring and shouting, collecting a heavy bribe at both ends of their fertilizing journeys.

But insects are by no means indispensable to the vegetable kingdom. It is just a way in which immobile plants have utilized the abundance and restless persistence of animals.

Most of the flowers that attract casual notice are pollinated by insects for the only good reason that the petals and perfume that attract us are actually insects in disguise. The sackcloth carriers, but there are other ways of securing pollination, and many plants could get on perfectly well if there were no insects at all in the world.

Grasses, for example, are pollinated by wind; their graceful spikes are in reality clusters of small flowers, but they have no conspicuous petals or perfume, because the light, dry pollen is simply blown from plant to plant.

They have no use for insect visitors. There are many other examples of wind-pollinated flowers, generally small and greenish or brownish in color because they need not attract attention.

The dangling catkins of hazel are clusters of tiny male flowers—that is to say, flowers containing stamens but no ovaries, and pollen is blown from these to the female flowers containing ovaries but no stamens, which form bud-like clusters only distinguishable from ordinary hazel buds by the tiny brush of soft crimson stigmas with which they are tipped.

Moreover, water is used as a medium for this transfer by many of the plants that live therein.

In the Canadian water weed to which we have already made reference, the male flowers break bodily away from the plant and float about on the surface of the pond until they come up against female flowers when pollination can occur.

And here we may mention a curious and important point. The buttercup, we have seen, is provided with an elaborate apparatus of petals and nectaries, so that insects may carry pollen from one flower to another.

Why should this be? Why should not the pollen from the stamens drop directly on to the stigmas, and so bring about fertilization without the bother of hiring an insect intermediary?

Throughout the plant and animal kingdoms we find a general preference, go to speak, for cross-fertilization; an avoidance of the union of eggs with male cells—spermatozoa or pollen, from the same individual.

In most animals such as snails and earthworms and liverflukes, and in the great majority of plants, which are hermaphrodite (male and female in one) there are usually precautions to restrain self-fertilization; the male half of one individual seldom fertilizes its own female half, but is mated with the female half of another.

As a matter of fact there is no immediate physiological reason why self-fertilization should not occur. Indeed, in a number of plants it does. Primroses, and other flowers which open early in the spring before many insects are abroad, fall back on self-pollination if they have not been cross-pollinated.

He Wants to Be a Hero

By WINIFRED BLACK

JACK is going to run away from home.

I can see it in his eyes.

Poor Jack, he's such a nice fellow really.

He's honest and square, and he's full of courage and full of ambition, and oh, how full of life he is, too.

Jack goes to the neighborhood theater to see the pictures.

I saw him go in the other night and I sat close behind him and when the picture began to flash upon the screen I went with Jack up in the air, high, high, with the aviator who was the hero of the play.

There was love and deathless devotion in the picture and youth and hope and courage—dear Jack how he did love it all!

When I asked him about it after words all he could say was:

"Gee, wasn't it swell?"

But I saw him fairly stumble as he came out into the plain everyday street again and I knew that his heart was up there in the clouds—with the hero.

And sometimes Jack goes to see a picture with ships in it and sailor men.

Oh! if he could just get away from stupid, uninteresting things like errands to run and washing the car and cleaning out the garage.

He wants to be a hero, too, he wants to go far away right out into the great world, he wants to take his chances in life and catch a deep breath of danger.

"Look at Dad," he thinks, "why he's lived for years and years and what has he ever done except pay the rent and build the new house, and pay for the food and buy us a few clothes now and then. Oh, he's all right in his way—I guess he means well, but when I get to be as old as he is, listen to the stories I will have to tell.

"Mother?—Oh, well, mother is just a woman; she doesn't understand.

And some morning Jack isn't going to answer when they call him to breakfast, and his room will be empty, and he will be out in this great world he dreams about so much, and he will have left behind him the only people on earth who really love him or care what becomes of him.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

WHEN a child sings
Time's faded springs
Return in gay review;
Lost April's leave
The past, to weave
Their silvery charm anew.

When a child sings
The years take wings.
And from that joyous throat
Old hopes are heard,
Old dreams are stirred
By each revealing note.

When a child sings
At time it brings
Life's golden age again'
How sunlight-filled
How glamour-thrilled
That treble, sweet refrain:

Profitable Painting

And Some Other Things

(Copyright, 1930)

HAVE portraits of your children painted if you can find an artist as good as John Hoppner.

Something over a hundred years ago Lord Sackville hired John Hoppner to paint "The Sackville Children."

The Sackville descendants have sold that painting for $400,000.

A famous London art dealer once got the Bank of England to print a one million pound note for him, just to have it and own it. Then he had it cancelled, got his money back, and framed the cancelled note.

This proved that the art dealer had actually owned $5,000,000 cash.

Several works of art are worth more than the 1,000,000-pound note, the Venus of Milo or Michelangelo's statue of Moses, for instance.

Mr. Rockefeller, interested in preserving the beauty of road scenery, offered a prize for the three best admonitions. Six thousand high school children competed for the prize. Marion Boyd of Detroit, Mich., won with

"THIS IS YOUR COUNTRY—BEAUTIFY IT."

Much good would be done if the population of the country, without trying to beautify it, would leave it as beautiful as it is, not scattering papers, breaking branches, and especially, this is for business men, not marring the landscape with hideous signs.

There are sign painters who would use Orion's belt to advertise a patent buckle.

AN OFFICIAL CANADIAN COMMITTEE HAS CONcluded a treaty with 3000 Indians, now remaining on 128,320 square miles of land, the only Indian lands not brought officially under the British crown.

The lands will be surveyed from the air by flying machines. The Indians and their descendants will be taken care of.

No man can guess what billions' worth of precious metals, oils and crops the white men will take from those lands.

But the Indians could never have done it.

GABRIELLE HARRISON, A LADY DOCTOR, LEAVES $1,000,000 for an apartment hotel in which widows, widowed mothers and women, deserted by their husbands, can live free of charge.

It's a kind-hearted plea. If some gentleman doctor will now build, close by, an apartment hotel for widowers and widower fathers, the arrangement will be perfect. No plan for permanent single blessedness is a good plan.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—There are in New York's two great railroad terminals some 80 alert and trigger-minded clerks who answer the barrage of questions at information desks. They are rarely stumped, although 40 per cent of the queries are foolish and not concerned with travel.

The chief requisite of an information clerk is a deliberate calm. People usually approach him in a feverish rush and he is trained to slow them up by a studied methodical attitude. Long expert eye has taught that any show of haste on the part of clerks is contagious among waiting information seekers.

Employes are intensively schooled for such jobs, and only those with exceptionally retentive memories are employed. The middle aged between 40 and 60—are the most proficient, but the pay is small, and younger men seeking promotion for better things are used.

As in all things, one improves with experience. There is one wizard who can tell you without resorting to reference books the quickest way from New York to any city of more than 20,000 in America. Yet he tells me he cannot remember a telephone number more than a day.

Still another can reel off the names of first class hotels in every city of importance, here and abroad. Each one seems to have a flair for specialization in some particular line of questioning. Thus a man at Grand Central who knows the names of principal business street in all cities.

The larger percentage of question askers are women and young men and it is estimated the daily average number of questions will be about 100,000. The most frequently asked questions naturally concern the arrival and departure of trains.

But such questions as these are asked: What is the best show in town? What restaurant serves corn bread? Where can one see Al Smith? What theater is Mayor Walker attending this evening? How much should one tip a taxi driver? And where is the nearest speakeasy?

The most unusual question I ever dropped was asked by a very British old beau with an over-Niagara mustache who, with a heavy garrumph, wanted to know "if the west bound trains served breakfast tea in the berths?"

It is, doubtless, an old one, for I am a sucker for that sort. Anyway, a fellow who will not get his name in this column so long as I'm running it—breezed in today to bet me a whole dollar I could not button up my vest in 15 seconds. I buttoned it in 15 seconds, but down instead of up. One always does it seems.

Also I'm going to stop pricing things on display in jewelry store windows. A pair of star sapphire cuff buttons caught my eye. I dropped in to inquire the price and was told they were $36,000. A half block away I found I was still walking on tip toes.

A corner cop observed this morning: "Whenever I get tired out I always drop into a movie show and relapse."

From M. E., Cincinnati: "While passing through your old home town Gallipolis I inquired of a white whiskered native whether he had lived there all his life. 'Not yit,' he replied."

We are all sharp as anything that way back home, answering city folks!
